Foreword

The second edition of my Cyber Intelligence memoir book aims to raise and improve everyone's awareness into what I've been up to and what I'm up to present day in terms of my achievements and projects in the field including to offer an in-depth and never-discussed before perspective on key concepts in terms of what I've been up to throughout the years up to present day. If you're truly looking forward to get a picture in terms of what I've been up to throughout the years up to present day you've come to the right place which is the Second Edition of my Cyber Intelligence memoir which I hope that you'll truly enjoy and that it will eventually "take you back" to a security industry and a Scene that you know and recognize where the ultimate goal would be for you to learn more about me and what I've been up to throughout the years up to present day.

This is going to be a rather more of an elaboration on some of my current previous and past including upcoming projects including a vast amount of compilation of personally identifiable information on various cybercriminals internationally with the idea to make it more easier to communicate the data which I produced throughout the last couple of years in the form of Bonus Content compilation where I hope that you'll find the information and the actual technical data relevant and informative.

Preface

In a world dominated by countless number of fraudulent propositions a single what appears to be a one-man operation in the field since December, 2005 up to present day aims to show them how it's done and what should and could be done better in the context of improving everyone's situational awareness in the field through the systematic and persistent sharing of actionable threat intelligence never-published and discussed before IoCs (Indicators of Compromise) including active and relevant commentary backed with something as referred to as sarcasm in the context of providing everyone interested in learning about information security and the world of cybercrime research with the necessary perspective from someone who ought to know and pretends to possess the necessary knowledge and later on information on the topic in the true spirit of sharing it and discussing it with his readers.

I sincerely hope that you'll find the Second Edition of my Cyber Intelligence memoir informative and relevant so that you'll be in a perfect position to share it with your friends and colleagues including to post a link on social media and possibly forward it to those who might be interested and want to know more on the topic of information security and cybercrime research.

Acknowledgement

I would like to thank everyone who knew me throughout the period 2008-2013 when I was on the top of my professional career and everyone who truly remembers me 2007-2008 when I was most busy writing the technical stuff on my personal blog which basically and hopefully raised a lot of eyebrows in the context of having me greatly contribute to the emerging cybercrime research and threat intelligence marketplace back then basically doing my best to share as much never-published and released before actionable intelligence on the bad guys and the infrastructure I was coming across on a daily basis with basically everyone reading my blog and “bothering” to drop me a line and say “big thanks” and “keep up the good work” back then which was quite an achievement. Special thanks goes to Jerome Athias (<https://cyberlegion.fr>) for being cool and professional and for bothering to approach me and appreciate my work and for actually sponsoring the Second Edition of my Cyber Intelligence memoir.

(<https://www.linkedin.com/in/jeromeathias>)

I wanted to take the time and effort and personally thank some of my first employers which include HiComm Magazine in Bulgarian where I was contributing with information security articles in my free time when I was a teenager CIO.bg Magazine which once featured an article that I wrote on the topic of information security which was really exciting and I was very proud of this at the time DiamondCS's Trojan Defense Suite and LockDownCorp for acting as my first employers in the field of Technical Collection in terms of malicious software Frame4 Security Systems for inspiring me to go and study in the Netherlands and supporting my research and the individual which I was at the time Astalavista Security Group's Astalavista.com for hiring me to manage and run the portal for a period of three years throughout 2003-2006 where I was responsible for the daily content and the production of a Security Newsletter where I was busy interviewing various people and folks from the Scene and the security industry including ZDNet where I was a security blogger for four years and Webroot where I was a security blogger for two years and WhoisXML API where I'm currently acting as a DNS Threat Researcher.

I also wanted to take the time and effort and say big thanks to my family in specific my parents that supported and have been supporting me throughout the years where the only and most important thing that I was doing at the time was to do my work and make them proud and let them know in terms of my success at the time and throughout the years.

Dedication

I wanted to take the time and effort to dedicate this book to my ex-girlfriend circa the 90's Yordanka Ilieva with whom I worked on the infamous <https://astalavista.com> where I had the privilege to work on the infamous Astalavista Security Group Security Newsletter and received the necessary support and guidance in the context of making this high-quality security publication happen including everyone in the U.S that I know and have worked with in the context of fighting cybercrime where I wanted to say big thanks to everyone who ever approached me and said "keep up the good work" and "keep it coming" in the context of motivating me to continue doing my research and continue to publish high-quality research articles and proper cyber threat actor attribution research and analysis including the following people:

- Ivan Schmid - for being the coolest boss ever in the world and for welcoming me on board at one of the Web's most popular Web site for hackers circa 2003-2006 where I had the privilege to work as a Managing Director of the portal with my ex-girlfriend circa the 90's - Yordanka Ilieva while I was studying in the Netherlands and for greatly assisting and trusting me on my way to join and manage and run and operate <https://astalavista.com> for a period of three years circa 2003-2006 in terms of content and to produce the monthly Security Newsletter including a featured interview with someone from the security industry and the Scene where I hope that I did my best to present my understanding and knowledge in terms of working for and managing the portal and successfully repositioning it back then from a hardcore hacker's heaven to a must-visit information security portal with unique and novel content for a variety of visitor categories to take advantage of on their way to learn and be on the top of their situational awareness in the field game.

- Gary Scott - with whom I had the privilege to exchange data and information during the 90's on my way to produce a high-quality newsletter and actually threat intelligence type of brief for ScanSafe at the time which later on got acquired by Cisco and someone that I can only say big thanks to in the context of almost launching a project in the form of a monthly Security Newsletter for ScanSafe which was an outstanding initiative where I'm grateful to have work and to know him in the true professional spirit of what we were up to back then

- Gadi Evron - for keeping it cool and for keeping the spirit and actually inspiring me to do my research while I was busy watching one of his personal presentations at a major security event circa the 90's where he had the opportunity to present and for being a true professional in the field and for approaching me right before I began my career which was quite a privilege at the time

- Paul Ferguson - for keeping it cool and for keeping in touch and for actually inspiring me to do my research into the field of cybercrime research through his daily publications at his personal blog and for motivating me and for the fact that we've actually almost met once and where I had the privilege to meet him

- Alex Eckelberry - for keeping it cool and corporate and for actually inspiring me to do my research in the field of cybercrime research and for running and maintaining Sunbelt Software which greatly inspired me to do my research in the field of cybercrime research and for inspiring me and touching base with me which greatly inspired me and motivated me to do my research and analysis

- Mark Rasch - for keeping it cool and for inspiring me to do my research into the field of cybercrime research with his column at SecurityFocus.com which greatly inspired me to do my research and for being a true professional in the field

- Jamie Riden - for being a good professional and someone that I trust and know and for assisting me in several occasions to do my research and continue doing my research

- Steve Santorelli - for personally inviting me to attend an invite-only event and for keeping in touch and for keeping it cool and for personally writing me a personal recommendation based on my research and experience in the industry and for being a true and real professional in the field

- James McQuaid - for being among the few individuals to actually raise awareness on the existence of the Russian Business Network and for continuing to supply high-profile and high-value threat intelligence information on a variety of mailing lists

- Jeffrey Bardin - for inviting me to join Treadstone71 as an OSINT Analyst and to actually allow me to work with him on a several projects where I actually earned the necessary amount to pay some of my bills and properly invest in several projects including to launch one of the first commercial E-Shops for intelligence deliverables

- Jeffrey Carr - for keeping it cool and for expressing his personal gratitude and commenting on my research in the context of “keeping it coming”.

- Ken Dunham - for keeping it cool and for running a high-profile and popular mailing list for security trends and actual technical information on current and ongoing cyber attack trends

- Jart Armit - for keeping it cool and for approaching me several times to say “hi” and “keep up the good work”

- Robert McMillan - for being a true professional and a good friend with whom I had the privilege and speak and communicate on a numerous occasions

- Rob Lemos - for being a good professional and someone that I know and have worked with and whose work I've followed in the past

- Gregg Keizer - for being a true professional and for actually bothering to quote me and reference me in several articles on numerous occasions

- Gary Warner - for being a true professional and for being always on the front lines of fighting the bad guys and cybercrime internationally

- Jorge Mieres - for being a true threat intelligence and cybercrime research professional and for keeping it cool in terms of new research and for offering a unique and in-depth overview and perspective on new and novel cyber attack trends and threats

- Marcus Sachs - for keeping it cool and for being a true professional whose work I've followed in the past

- Gunter Ollman - for being a true professional and a good friend with whom I actually got the chance to meet at RSA Europe 2012

The World is small and infinite and we can definitely make it a better place by doing our work following the basic methodology that an “OSINT conducted today is a tax payer’s buck saved somewhere”.

Introduction

It used to be a moment in time when we used to “rock the boat”. With or without the drinks. Keep reading. We’re about to have a party with the official release of the Second Edition of Dancho Danchev “Cyber Intelligence” memoir.

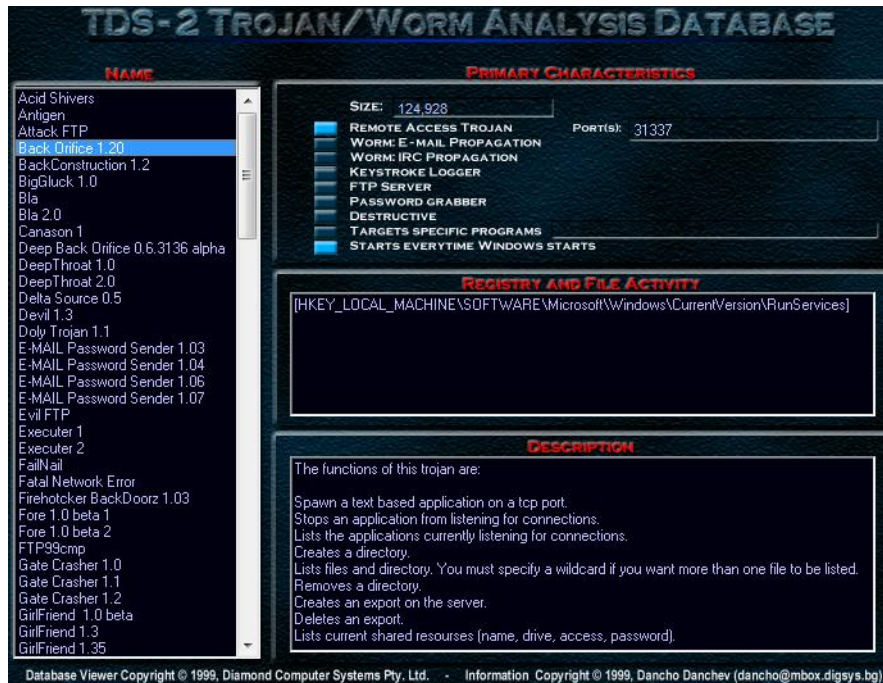

What’s included inside the Second Edition of my “Cyber Intelligence” Memoir? It’s the inside story behind the life of ex-Bulgarian hacker Dancho Danchev today’s leading expert in the field of cybercrime research and threat intelligence gathering including all the juicy details behind the taking down and monitoring of the Koobface botnet including how I almost got busted once.

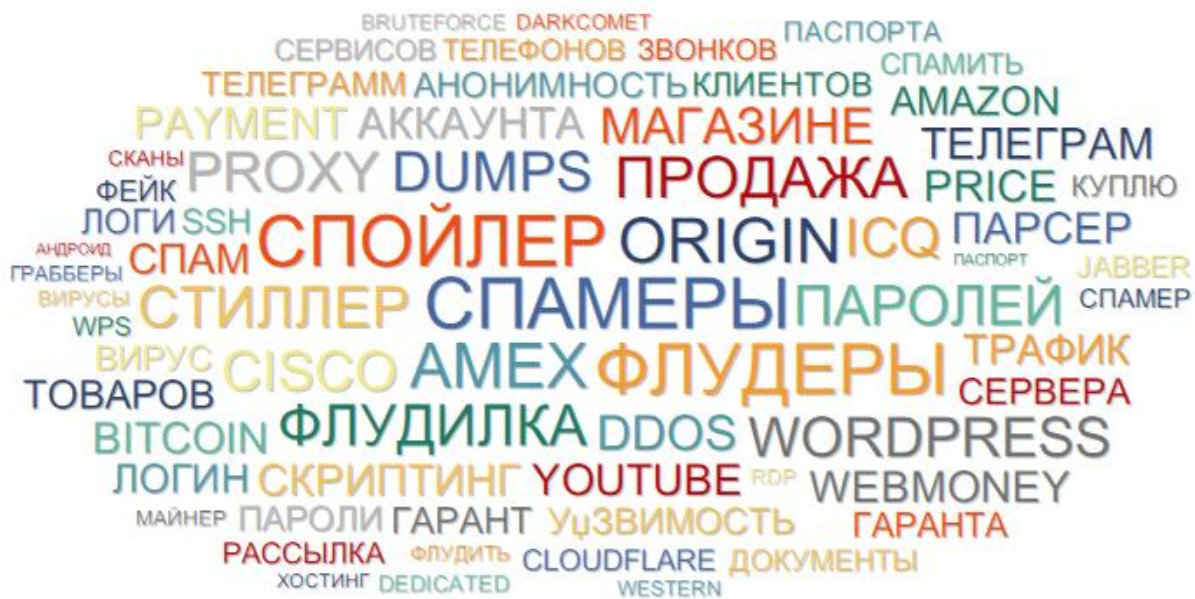

This is Dancho Danchev (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>) and I wanted to take the time and effort and welcome you to the second edition of my “Cyber Intelligence” personal memoir where the first edition has already managed to attract approximately 6,732 readers on the Internet Archive where it’s currently available online for free in a variety of E-Book formats where I did my best to detail the true story behind my teenage hacker years up to present day where I’m one of the most internationally recognized cybercrime researchers threat intelligence analysts and security bloggers since December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal blog while I was busy running and managing Astalavista.com while studying in the Netherlands which has already managed to attract approximately 5.6M page views throughout the past decade and is currently one of the security industry’s most popular security publications.

The primary reason behind the release of the Second Edition of “Cyber Intelligence” is to continue to tell my story with all the juicy details up to present day and actually offer an in-depth and never discussed before perspective on my research including to present and communicate the crown jewels of my research to a vast and growing network of readers internationally where the ultimate goal would be to properly present the true story behind my professional career including to offer an in-depth peek inside my teenage hacker years experiences while properly present my story up to present day where I’m an internationally recognized cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst.

The primary reason behind the release of the Second Edition of “Cyber Intelligence” is to continue to tell my story with all the juicy details up to present day and actually offer an in-depth and never discussed before perspective on my research including to present and communicate the crown jewels of my research to a vast and growing network of readers internationally where the ultimate goal would be to properly present the true story behind my professional career including to offer an in-depth peek inside my teenage hacker years experiences while properly present my story up to present day where I’m an internationally recognized cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst.

How did I attempt to take down the Koobface botnet? Who's Hilary Kneber? What was the primary idea behind "Keeping Money Mule Recruits on a Short Leash" blog post series? How did I prevented and actually detected a possible kidnapping attempt? How did I made it to the GCHQ with the Honeynet Project? Is is true that I've received an invitation to present at Canadian Intelligence Services? What's my professional experience with my current employer WhoisXML API?

What does rocking the boat really means? If it's going to be massive it better be good. At some particular point in time when I was busy working on my personal blog I remember a moment when every day's story used to dominate my life being in particular the fact that I've managed to tell a story for the purpose of sharing it and reaching out to my readership which at the time I was hoping that it was growing with several high profile daily users that I was busy tracking on a daily basis.

It was December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal blog while working for Astalavista.com as a Managing Directory and where I've managed to attract on average 7,650 RSS subscribers including to get thousands of unique visitors on a daily basis from across the globe.

The juicy details? At some point in time when I was originally secretly monitoring who was visiting my blog using Statcounter.com where I was hoping to see someone famous I've noticed that I got a regular visitor from The Pentagon who was basically visiting the blog on a daily basis during not necessarily a specific time but in general which was great news and this greatly motivated me to continue posting high-quality research and news and commentary articles on various events that took place in the security industry including across the globe.

I also got several visitors from the CIA, the NSA including the FBI the NYTimes and BBC which was an outstanding audience at the time which was quite interesting to monitor and interact with at that time through my daily blog posts on a variety of interesting and high-quality topics.

This is the perfect timing to say big thanks to everyone who approached me to say "thanks" "hi" and "keep up the good work" in terms of the first edition of my "Cyber Intelligence" personal memoir and everyone who referenced or quoted or actually shared the first edition of my E-Book on social media.

In the Second Edition of my "Cyber Intelligence" E-book I'll continue to share my personal story in the security industry including my experiences in the world of fighting cybercrime and threat intelligence gathering and I'll do my best to offer an in-depth and personal account based on some of the research that I publish online in particular my personal blog (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>).

HNNCast052110

When I originally launched my personal blog (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>) my primary idea was to comment and share as much information security and computer security advice as possible as well as to discuss the latest Web 2.0 in a technological context including to actually offer a never-published or discussed before peek inside the modern cybercrime ecosystem where I've successfully managed to position my personal blog as a leading and a must-visit publication for anything related to malicious software OSINT botnet research including cybercrime research and threat intelligence type of research and information.

It used to be a moment in time when I was busy practically commanding a vast network of loyal readers through the direct and persistent distribution of my high-quality research to a network of my blog readers where the ultimate idea was to spread a message and to actually communicate my research and blog posts to as many people as possible.

Back in the day I had approximately 11,000 Twitter followers and approximately 7,000 RSS blog readers which is quite impressive for a one-man operation since December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal blog (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>). A couple of years later I realized that I've participated in a Top Secret GCHQ Program called "Lovely Horse" which aims to utilize publicly accessible sources of information for cyber defense purposes also known as OSINT for cyber defense which was quite a success at the time and it was a privilege and an honor to participate in the program.

C&C ARCHITECTURE

Compared with the complex C&C architecture of the Storm, WALEDAC, and DOWNAD botnets, the KOOFACE C&C infrastructure is very basic. It only consisted of infected nodes and C&C domains that used HTTP as its communication protocol.

This simplistic C&C approach is, of course, very vulnerable to takedowns. After several KOOFACE C&C takedown attempts initiated by internet service providers (ISPs) and members of the security industry,³ the KOOFACE gang realized the need for a more robust C&C infrastructure. Thus, on July 19, 2009, the KOOFACE writers implemented a new C&C architecture that involved the use of proxy nodes to provide redundancy and to improve the survivability of their C&C should another takedown be attempted.⁴

A few days after the new KOOFACE C&C infrastructure was implemented, the botnet was seen inserting a message (see below) for one of the security researchers tracking the malware's domain activities.

#We express our high gratitude to Dancho Danchev (http://ddanchev.blogspot.com)
#for the help in bug fixing, researches and documentation for our software.

It took me a couple of hours to successfully track down and monitor the Koobface botnet which led me to publish an OSINT analysis which basically offered an in-depth personally identifiable information on one of its botnet masters which was quite a success at the time and led me to a DW interview including a reference in a NYTimes article on the topic. Back in the day I was the primary source of information on the Koobface botnet where my primary responsibilities included the daily monitoring of the newly launched campaigns where the ultimate goal was to offer an in-depth technical and enriched information on the currently circulating campaigns where the ultimate goal was to attempt to profile and also attempt to take them offline.

Throughout my Koobface investigations and research I once got a personal message from the Koobface gang which was embedded within the actual C&C infrastructure and was basically greeting me including several C&C server domains which typosquatted my name.

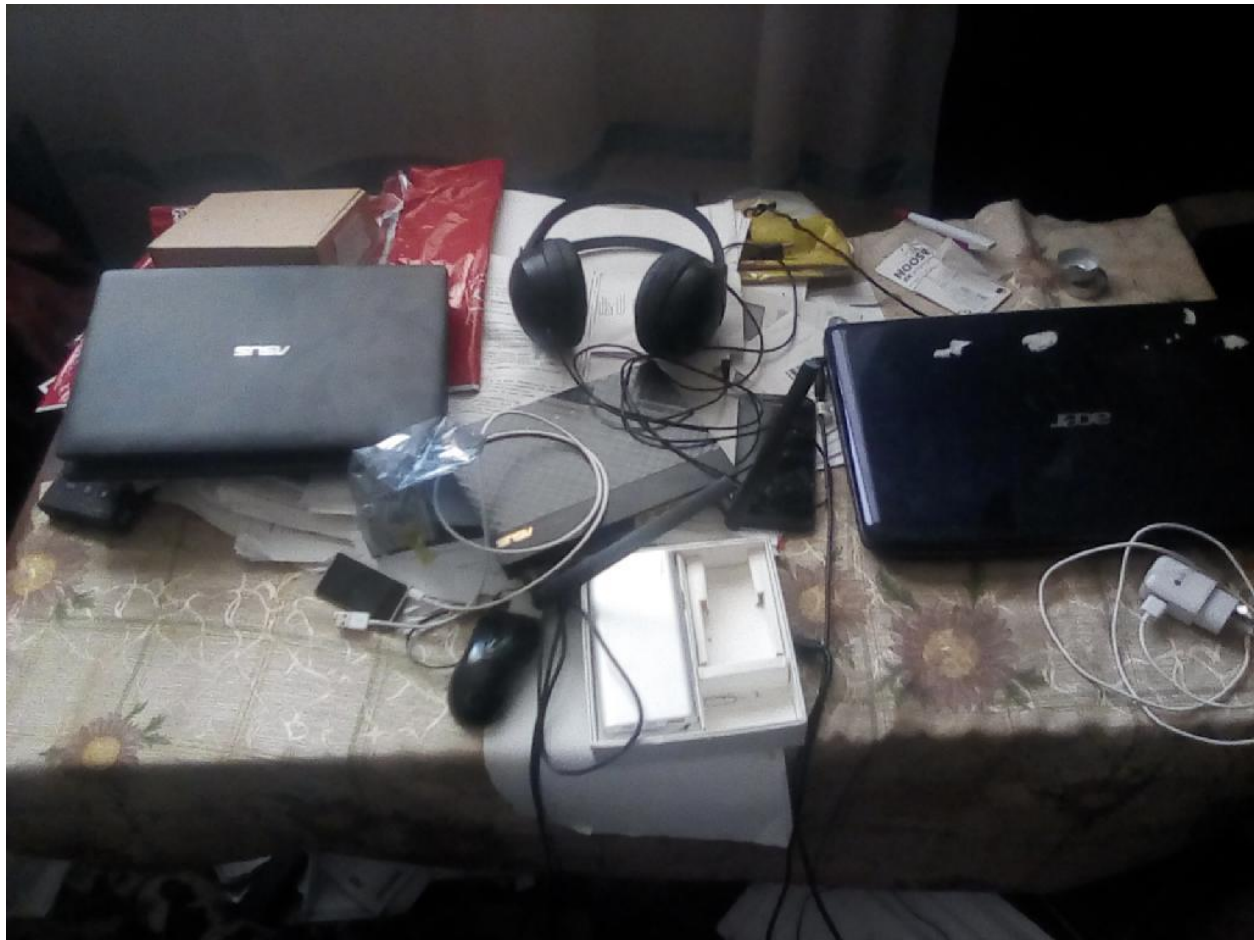

Back in 2016 I have a Keynote on Koobface at an extremely popular security event in Spain called CyberCamp 2016 where I actually presented and discussed never-published or discussed before details regarding my monitoring of the Koobface botnet in the context of attempting to take it offline and got a pretty positive response from most of the folks attending the event.

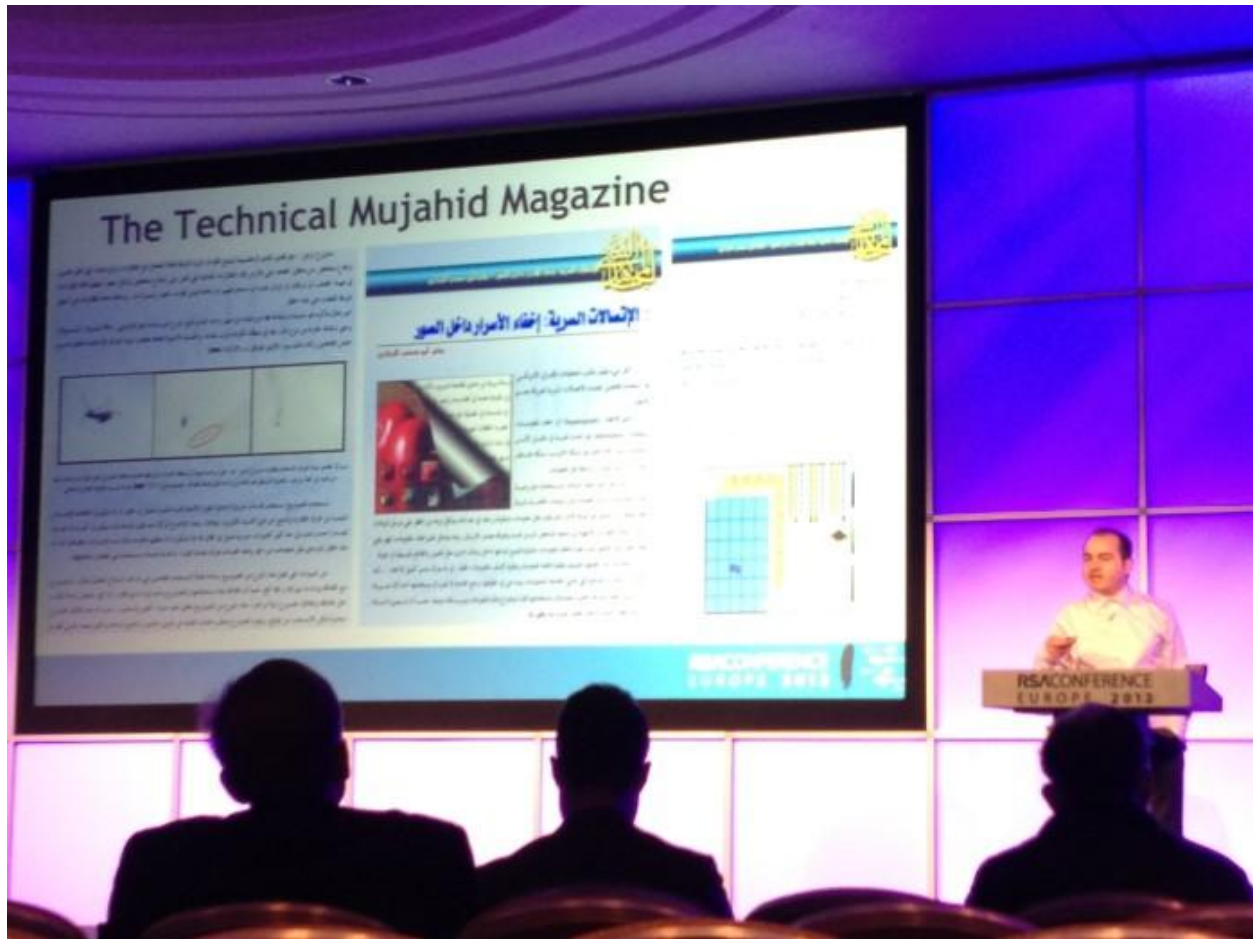

Following a successful career as a hacker enthusiast during the 90's and a successful management and operation of one of the World's leading portals for hackers and security experts which is <https://astalavista.com> for a period of three years circa 2003-2006 when I originally decided to launch one of the security industry's leading publication which is my personal blog - <https://ddanchev.blogspot.com> I managed to somehow land a successful career as an independent contractor in the world of security blogging cybercrime research and threat intelligence which led me to visit several invite-only conferences including to present at event at an undisclosed location including to actually attract and retain approximately 6M page views which is not necessarily bad for a man one operation in terms of running and maintaining my personal blog for a period of 12 years.

Among the primary reasons for coming up with this 2268 pages long personal memoir is to empower fellow researchers and security experts including the general public with an in-depth personal account overview of my experience in the security industry's as a teenage hacker enthusiast back in the 90's today's most popular and often cited security blogger threat intelligence analyst and cybercrime researcher internationally and to present a diverse set of high-quality and never-published and discussed before case studies and enriched technical information and OSINT data on current and emerging cyber attack trends.

The primary goal of the book would be to position my memoir as one of the most popular and often cited personal account of the hacking and the security Scene circa the 90's through the prism of my teenage hacker experience up to present day in terms of various high-profile and advanced nation-state actors and malicious and fraudulent cyber attack campaigns where the ultimate goal would be to discuss in-depth my experience in the field of security blogging threat intelligence gathering and cybercrime research throughout the past decade.

It used to be a moment in time when “sharing was caring” and with the booming Web 2.0 enterprises and the actual concept numerous new online participants and Web 2.0 darlings started popping up as mushrooms another set of individuals prone to make a change an impact quickly emerged online potentially sharing a treasure trove of personal knowledge into the world of modern technologies including the very basics of information security hacking and cyber warfare including a newly releases and never-published before research into the area of cybercrime research and the actual process of profiling the bad guys online in terms of their actual campaigns and actual malicious infrastructure behind their online campaigns.

It used to be a personal privilege back in December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal Dancho Danchev's Blog - Mind Streams of Information Security Knowledge blog which quickly attracted a high-quality and relevant audience which is currently one of the security industry's most popular and relevant security hacking OSINT and threat intelligence including cybercrime research type of gathering online publications where I've continued to publish and post high-quality and never-published before and released research and analysis articles.

The Honeynet
PROJECT

Honeynet Conference

4 - 5 February 2008

The Honeynet

Dancho Danchev

At some point in time I got practically used to getting referenced and quoted by mainstream news media in terms of my research which greatly motivated and inspired me to continue doing my research and to actually attempt to inspire other researchers and readers to continue reading and visiting my blog on a daily basis where I owe everyone a big deal of thanks for the daily visits and for actually bothering to read my articles and actually go through my research at the time up to present day.

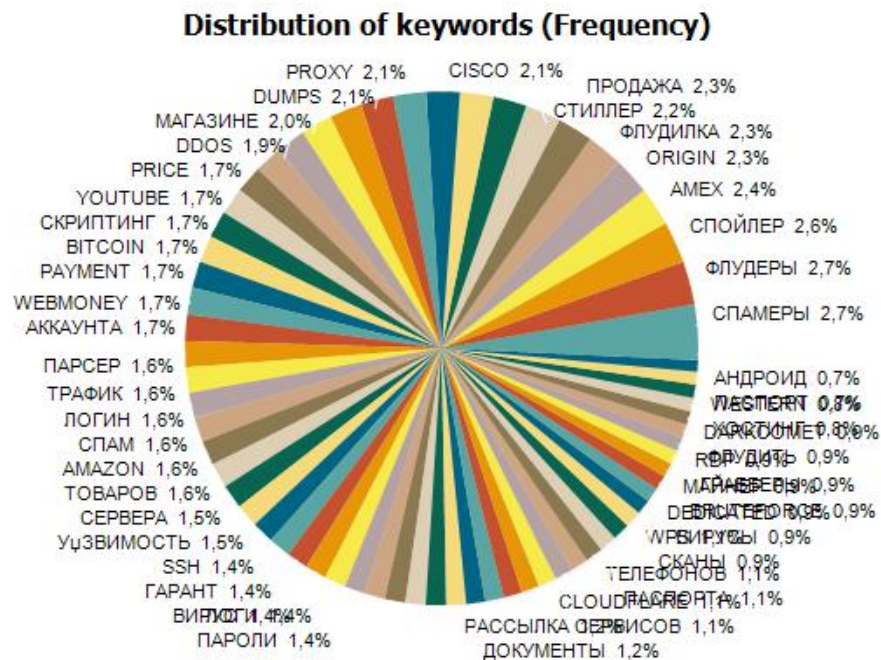

Tracking down and monitoring the Koobface botnet on a daily basis where I successfully became the primary source of information on the Koobface botnet at the time was quite a success and a pretty interesting experience where I ultimately managed to take it offline including to held a Keynote presentation on the topic of monitoring and tracking down of the Koobface botnet.

Following a series of messages left on the actual C&C (Command and Control) server locations which were basically greeting me and referencing my research at the time including a series of typosquatted domains using my name at some point in time I managed to actually come up with a proper “Top 10 Things You Didn’t Know About the Koobface Gang” article for ZDNet at the time where the botnet masters actually left a message within the C&C (Command and Control) server location basically answering the key points on a point by point basis which was quite a success at the time of monitoring and tracking down the Koobface botnet.

The primary purpose behind the actual release of my personal memoir is to reach out to a new set of audience and actually elaborate more on my experience and expertise in the field including to offer a God’s Eye perspective on the current and emerging cybercrime ecosystem in combination with active case studies and technical material whose purpose is to greatly assist everyone that’s reading this memoir with the idea to provoke you to share it with your friends and colleagues including to actually recommend it to your friends and colleagues.

I sincerely hope that you'll find the Second Edition of my Cyber Intelligence memoir informative and educational and that you'll share it on your social media account including to share it with colleagues.

Yours sincerely,

Dancho Danchev

Testimonials

“I have been working in the security space for many years and for a very large part of that have been following the excellent research work that Dancho has been doing in identifying cyber criminals and doing complex analysis of highly advanced modern day malware attacks. Dancho is extremely well known in the security industry for the work he has done and continues to do. When we had the opportunity of collaborating with Dancho at Webroot, we didn't hesitate. Dancho has proven to deliver on a continuous basis for us and his work is simply phenomenal. I look forward to working with Dancho for many years to come.”

— Jacques Erasmus

“Dancho is a veritable mine of information, particularly on subjects like the ones he blogs about, such as spam and malware campaigns and the actors behind them. I am an avid reader of his, and also have met Dancho at a few conferences that we've both attended. I've found him to be extremely friendly, and always ready to explain anything he's been working on. Were I organising a conference, I would definitely send him an invite.”

— Jamie Riden

“Dancho is an expert researcher who I’ve had the pleasure of working with on several hacker investigations for Taia Global clients. I consider Dancho one of the best and most insightful researchers working in InfoSec today.”

— Jeffrey Carr

“Dancho Danchev has his pulse on the cyber criminal community. I can think of few people who have his experience, skills and understanding when it comes to cyber intelligence and understanding the cyber threat. I cannot recommend Dancho enough.”

— Lance Spitzner

“Dancho is one of those exceedingly rare security professionals with not only an eye for uncovering the root cause of an attack and the ability to examine it from multiple angles, but also explain his findings in a way that has a meaningful and direct impact on those tasked with defending against such attacks. I admire the depth of his analysis and his dogged determination to track back who the criminal operators are despite the dangers he could be exposed to. Dancho gets two-thumbs-up from me and I'd hire him in a heart-beat if he ever makes it to the USA. In the meantime I'll keep on following his research, reading his blogs and looking forward to collaborating with him on future cyber crime investigations."

— Gunter Ollmann

"Dancho is an exceptional information security professional; he continually goes the extra mile for clients and the security community. His knowledge and analysis in core areas as threat intelligence analysis, cybercrime counter Intelligence and competitive intelligence research is outstanding. He also manages the most difficult task with ease, that of communicating this in an understandable and meaningful form for the community. Working with Dancho over several years has been highly productive, and beneficial."

— Jart Armin

“I first knew Dancho when he was fresh out of college but already with a prodigious understanding of information security matters. He became one of the experts in the Security Clinic on ITsecurity.com, a site I founded and was publishing at the time; and he willingly gave free security help and advice to visitors to the site. Since those days I have watched both his career and knowledge grow in leaps and bounds until he is now, without any doubt, one of the world’s leading experts on the shady world of cybercrime.”

— Kevin Townsend

“While rebuilding the site security and fraud team at a leading online web site, threats and rapid evolution in the online security space necessitated I get up to speed quickly, and with more than a modicum of depth and breadth of understanding of current trends and risks in the cyber security realm. After spending considerable time building an information network of the most germane, relevant, and useful sources, a common thread emerged from the chatter of activity and updates – “Dancho Danchev”. As I poured over security publications, cyber-security journals, blogs, and security vendor sites, I continued to see Dancho cited and acknowledged as the security researcher and expert who “broke the story” or “tipped off users to the vulnerabilities” or “alerted the community to threat vectors” for major events. Dancho has voluntarily shared critical information on what the crooks are up to and has been an invaluable and much appreciated resource. Dancho’s passion for his work is reflected in his genuine desire to quash the “bad guys” activities and share as much actionable information as he possibly can. I highly recommend Dancho to any organization seeking an top-notch expert and passionate evangelist of online security practices.”

“I have met Dancho on numerous occasions in a professional capacity and communicated with him by email countless times over the years on a number of operational investigative and research matters. He is a major stalwart of the Information Security Community and has been mainly known publicly for his exceptional Blogs since about 2006:

- <http://ddanchev.blogspot.com>
- <http://zdnet.com/blog/security>
- <http://blog.webroot.com>

What is less publicly well known is his constant and unrelenting contribution to actual investigations, as demonstrated by his posts to a number of highly vetted Information Security mailing lists. It has been my pleasure to invite Dancho at every conference I have held at INTERPOL headquarters, these events are themselves highly vetted and invitation only, and this is a testament to his contribution to Internet crime investigations. His contributions have been fundamentally insightful and unique: he knows the Malware ecosystem better than most of my associates and can always be relied upon to assist without reward. He does this simply because it is the right thing to do, despite the obvious risk to his personal safety by contributing to investigations that will disrupt the objectives, in particular, of well resourced Eastern European criminals.

His particular skills are in discovering new threats in Information Security: use of new software exploits as well as new hardware tools used to circumvent protective services for banks and other sensitive computer systems. Geographically, he has some very strong track records of providing insight into criminals and “Nation State Actors” in Russia and China in particular, in addition to the use of the Internet by Islamic extremists (for example the ‘Operation Ababil’ attacks of Wells Fargo, US Bank and PNC Bank). Media outlets that have benefitted from his investigations into attacks on their online properties include CNN, The New York Times, YouTube, Digg, Bing and Google.

One of the most public and significant contributions he has made relates to the identification of the Koobface gang: a highly successful group of Eastern European hackers. These attacks have almost all been against US targets: both on an industrial scale as well as fundamentally against US citizens.

It is my professional opinion that most of these cases would have been substantially harder to combat and gain attribution against, without the timely and highly technical assistance of Dancho Danchev. The bravery he has shown in unusual and the risks to his personal safety that he has had to endure have been real and significant. The American people owe him a debt of gratitude and would be far more protected in their online activities if he were able to continue his work from US territory with the inherent benefits that would afford him.”.

“I Sean M. Bodmer have followed Dancho Danchev’s work since 2008 through online security threat intelligence centered on the sharing of actionable intelligence focused on bringing a halt to or protecting others from cyber criminals and the spectrum of threats they pose to the world and global economies at large.

Prior to 2010 I worked as a U.S. Defense Contractor, Government Liaison, and deployed along the US military in combat operations and situations for more than two years. After leaving the US Defense Intelligence Cyber Operations space I moved to private sector where I grew to engage more foreign nationals in the academic and research space that applied to threat intelligence, malware intelligence, and counterintelligence collections against cyber criminals both domestic and abroad. I currently hold a US DoD security clearance and am regularly invited to speak before US Congress, US STRATCOM, and several other Cyber Operations focused agencies and organizations. Dancho Danchev’s exploits of vast troves of intelligence on cyber threats has been positively applauded and cheered for several years. I truly feel with my experience and background not only does Dancho Danchev possess a massive wealth of knowledge in the space of European Cyber threats ranging from small to nation state funded through his vast network of intelligence source born out of his life experience and grown relationships. Dancho Danchev is one man if when “the stuff hit the proverbial fan” I would turn to Dancho and ask him for some of his wisdom and advice based on his experience.

Dancho Danchev is a man I call a mentor, a respected colleague, a good man, and a friend. He would be one able to be of like mind heart of many American's who have the same passion to protect and defend those who would do harm to others who are not able to properly defend themselves from cyber criminals and threats. I feel it would be a benefit to US National Cyber Security interests to allow Dancho Danchev expedited entry into the United States to live in safety from foreign entities who would do harm to professionals who believe in the greater good of humanity and are not afraid to protect others who cannot protect themselves from these anonymous threats who pose our global systems great risk on a daily basis."

"My name is Mikko Hypponen. I've been working at F-Secure Corporation since 1991. Currently I'm the Chief Research Officer. I have known Dancho Danchev since 2001. During these years he has constantly demonstrated remarkable technical skills and hard work ethics. He's a world-leading expert in computer security. He's especially strong with his research into the criminal computer underground and in to the actors behind some of the most problematic computer attacks over the last decade. These areas have a clear lack of leading researchers, making Dancho's skills even more valuable. I find Dancho is a very honest and reliable person. I would personally recommend Dancho to receive a working permit for United States. He would be a major asset for any company."

Mikko Hypponen

“I have never met Mr. Danchev personally. However, he’s well known in the information security community, and through his contributions to this community I learned to respect and value his work and personality. Dancho Danchev’s work is unique in the landscape of information security research in that he provides a continuous stream of insights regarding cybercriminals and online fraud life cycle. Very few people in the industry have both the technical skills and depth required to analyze cybercrime attacks, and the ability to see the big picture and to tie all the loose ends into a single coherent dissertation. Mr. Danchev is particularly skillful at following even subtle hints and traces of fraudsters and cyber criminals, connecting and cross referencing the technology sides of their operations geographically and chronologically to track the perpetrators, and using social media and open source data to construct a full picture of the masterminds behind cybercrime. This puts pressure on law enforcement entities in their respective countries to take action on the now exposed individuals. In this respect, Mr. Danchev is probably the most influential single researcher in actually reducing the global volume of cybercrime. Since the vast majority of cybercrime has US citizens, corporates and financial institutions as victims, thus Mr. Danchev’s work and research has a considerable impact at the (US) national level. Few prominent examples of such contributions to the cybersecurity research community and cybercrime fighting efforts are:

Exposing the operator of the Koobface botnet (at that time one of the world’s largest botnets) in 2012.

A 25-part(!) series of blogs on fake software operators and origins during 2007-2011. Fake software is a scam wherein a victim pays money for software which doesn’t really work as advertised. Usually the individual losses are modest (e.g. $50), but the national impact can be considerable due to the fact that it’s pretty wide spread phenomenon.

An 18-part(!) series of blogs on money mule recruitment operators and origins during 2008-2013. Money mules are a critical link in cybercrime fraud life cycle – they are used to separate the fraudster from the victim by placing a middleman (the money mule) in between, so the victim ends up sending money to the mule who transfers it (minus a small commission) to the fraudster. Shutting down mule recruitment means reducing online financial fraud levels.

Tracking the 2008 CNN denial-of-service attack to its source in China. Needless to say, these are but few examples for his extraordinary work which he publishes continuously and frequently.

Additionally, Mr. Danchev is an active participant in several private researcher communities, and his help and contributions to other researchers are extremely valuable.”

It used to be a moment in time when “sharing was caring” and with the booming Web 2.0 enterprises and the actual concept numerous new online participants and Web 2.0 darlings started popping up as mushrooms another set of individuals prone to make a change an impact quickly emerged online potentially sharing a treasure trove of personal knowledge into the world of modern technologies including the very basics of information security hacking and cyber warfare including a newly releases and never-published before research into the area of cybercrime research and the actual process of profiling the bad guys onlines in terms of their actual campaigns and actual malicious infrastructure behind their online campaigns.

It used to be a personal privilege back in December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal Dancho Danchev’s Blog - Mind Streams of Information Security Knowledge blog which quickly attracted a high-quality and relevant audience which is currently one of the security industry’s most popular and relevant security hacking OSINT and threat intelligence including cybercrime research type of gathering online publications where I’ve continued to publish and post high-quality and never-published before and released research and analysis articles.

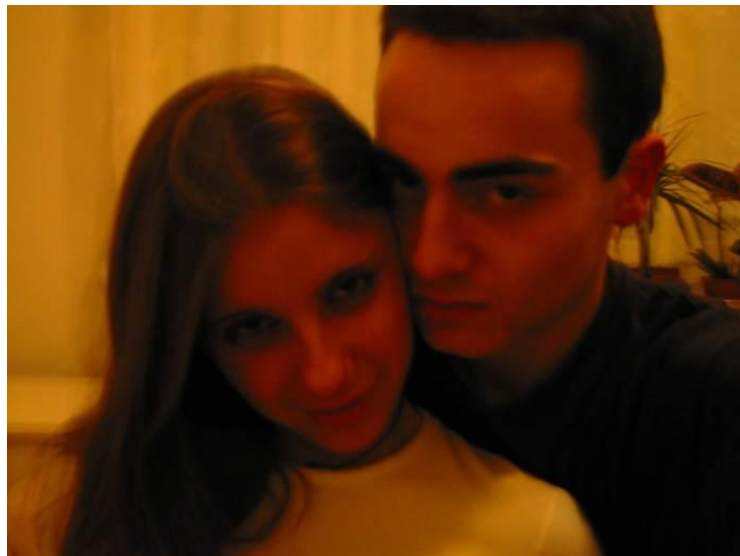

At some point in time I got practically used to getting referenced and quoted by mainstream news media in terms of my research which greatly motivated and inspired me to continue doing my research and to actually attempt to inspire other researchers and readers to continue reading and visiting my blog on a daily basis where I owe everyone a big deal of thanks for the daily visits and for actually bothering to read my articles and actually go through my research at the time up to present day.

It was a rare moment in time when I practically decided to share as much information security knowledge as possible with as many readers possible internationally which led me to pursue a high value career as a security blogger OSINT analyst including threat intelligence analyst where I did my best to make invaluable contributions to a variety of online news Web sites including various international companies since the 90's up to present day where my most recent position is to act as a DNS Threat Researcher at WhoisXML API.

Biography

Dancho Danchev is the world's leading expert in the field of cybercrime fighting and threat intelligence gathering having actively pioneered his own methodology for processing threat intelligence leading to a successful set of hundreds of high-quality analysis and research articles published at the industry's leading threat intelligence blog - ZDNet's Zero Day, Dancho Danchev's Mind Streams of Information Security Knowledge and Webroot's Threat Blog with his research featured in Techmeme, ZDNet, CNN, PCWorld, SCMagazine, TheRegister, NYTimes, CNET, ComputerWorld, H+Magazine currently producing threat intelligence at the industry's leading threat intelligence blog - Dancho Danchev's - Mind Streams of Information Security Knowledge.

Among the key achievements throughout my career include the following key summary points:

- Presented at the GCHQ with the Honeynet Project
- SCMagazine Who to Follow on Twitter for 2011
- Participated in a Top Secret GCHQ Program called "Lovely Horse"
- Identified a major victim of the SolarWinds Attack - PaloAltoNetworks
- Found malware on the Web Site of Flashpoint
- Tracked monitored and profiled the Koobface Botnet and exposed one botnet operator
- Made it to Slashdot two times
- My Personal Blog got 5.6M Page Views Since December, 2005
- My old Twitter Account got 11,000 followers
- I had an average of 7,000 RSS readers on my blog
- I have my own vinyl "Blue Sabbath Black Cheer / Griefer – We Hate You / Dancho Danchev Suck My Dick" made by a Canadian artist
- Currently running Astalavista.box.sk
- I gave an interview to DW on the Koobface Botnet
- I gave an interview to NYTimes on the Koobface botnet
- I gave an interview to Russian OSINT
- Listed as a major competitor by Jeffrey Carr's Taia Global

- Presented at the GCHQ
- Presented at Interpol
- Presented at InfoSec
- Presented at CyberCamp
- Presented at RSA Europe

With his research featured at RSA Europe, CyberCamp, InfoSec, GCHQ and Interpol the researcher continues to actively produce threat intelligence at the industry's leading threat intelligence blog - Dancho Danchev's - Mind Streams of Information Security Knowledge publishing a diverse set of hundreds of high-quality research analysis detailing the malicious and fraudulent activities at nation-state and malicious actors across the globe.

When I originally launched my career as an independent contractor and Technical Collector in 1999 I originally joined forces with the infamous DiamondCS's Trojan Defense Suite as a Newsletter Manager and Technical Collector.

The 90's Hacking Scene

It used to be quite a privilege when I originally attempted to publish an article which I proposed to one of my homeland's primary technology magazine HiComm and when I got actually invited to publish a series of articles on a monthly basis. Among the first things which I did back then was to translate my extremely popular document "The Complete Windows Trojans Paper" to Bulgarian which was quite a success and the article got published and accepted which was originally published in the Christmas edition of the magazine.

The original story behind my infamous "The Complete Windows Trojans Paper" was a major shift between my understanding and experience within the hacking Scene and the modern security industry where I really wanted and did my best to have a career which leads me to today's leading expert in the field of cybercrime research and threat intelligence including security blogging and OSINT research and analysis on the bad guys including various international and well known cyber threat actors.

I originally wrote and released my "The Complete Windows Trojans Paper" on my own as part of a major marketing effort to promote my knowledge and expertise in the scene where the ultimate goal was to produce a high-quality and never released publication on the topic and basically make it easier for everyone to understand the ongoing trend that have to do with trojan horses back then where I later on originally published my publication on what used to be among my first independent contractor position at my first employer at the time which was Netherlands-based Frame4 Security Systems where I also did a marketing editorial on the company's web site and has been supporting and working with the company ever since.

The interesting part back then was that I also got a personal recommendation from the company owner for my university application which at the time was a Netherlands-based university where I had the ambition to relocate with my girlfriend and partner in life at the time which we eventually did with the idea to visit and actually go to study in that country.

It used to be a moment in time when hacking and computer security was a hot topic which prompted me to enter the world of information security professionally back in the 90's following two professional work experiences with two anti-trojan and anti-malware vendors where the first was DiamondCS's Trojan Defense Suite and the second the U.S based LockDownCorp where I was busy collecting trojan horses and assisting in the process of building help files describing their features including to assist in the process of developing signatures and eventually protecting their customers from current trojan threats in the form of newly released remote access malicious software.

Among the key personal bookmarks that I had at the time were <https://box.sk> including the infamous <https://astalavista.box.sk> where I'm currently running a high-profile search engine for hackers.

This is Dancho (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>) and I've decided to share my personal real-life story circa the 90's when I was a prominent ex-Bulgarian hacker during the infamous hacker spree during the 90's when Astalavista.box.sk and Progenic.com were my primary and daily visit type of bookmarks which greatly provoked me to pursue a basically 20 year long career as an information security specialist today's world's leading expert in the field of cybercrime research and threat intelligence gathering that's been maintaining one of the security industry's leading and most popular security publications since December, 2005 which is my personal blog which I originally launched while working as a Managing Director for <https://astalavista.com> which at the time was one of the world's most popular and high-traffic visited information security portals in the world where I had the privilege to work as a Managing Director while studying in the Netherlands.

Do you want to know about my real-life story as an ex-Bulgarian hacker during the 90's? Are you interested in learning more about how we set up the foundation of the Technical Collection market segment including today's modern threat intelligence market segment and how we set them straight using data information and knowledge which was produced and disseminated? Keep reading.

The story takes place in a small town in Bulgaria during the 90's in a post Soviet and post Communist country where modern technologies slowly start to take place prompting a local whiz kid to gather as much information from a network of connected computers known as the Internet for the purpose of seeking a global domination through active and persistent information sharing exchange with colleagues from across the globe including exclusively the United States and members of the U.S Security Industry the Scene and prominent members of the U.S Intelligence Community including hundreds of independent contractors in a post and pre 9/11 World which is where Dancho Danchev originally began his career as a hacker enthusiast today's leading expert in the field of cybercrime research and threat intelligence gathering.

While I was in Bulgaria during my teenage hacker years I was busy freelancing as an information security consultant while working with international security portals where I was busy offering advice and practical information security advice and practical solution recommendations including my work with CIO.bg where I once contributed with an article on Cyberterrorism and Cyber Jihad including a series of publications for HiComm.bg where I was running a popular information security rubric and participated with several articles in several of the magazine's issues.

At a later stage I somehow decided to go corporate and in a way find a way to enter the commercial information security industry with my knowledge potentially beginning to contribute with knowledge and information using my personal contacts at various information security portals on my way to land a possible job preferably as a writer security blogger or a journalist which I apparently succeeded in doing as I've been actively contributing with my own research and knowledge on a variety of h/c/p/a (Hacking/Cracking/Phreaking/Anarchy) portals at the time.

At some point in time Dancho decide to approach the primary operator of one of his favorite security Web sites at the time — <https://net-security.org> for the purpose of contributing with an article for their newly launched forbidden.net-security.org project. His idea was to contribute with a security article for their recently launched Newsletter and the article in question was a good old-fashioned "How to use trojan horses" manual. The article eventually got accepted and Dancho felt proud of himself for making a contribution to the project and having his article published so that eventually more people will read it and send him an email with questions about trojan horses and the actual article. The primary Webmaster of net-security.org at the time was Berislav Kucan and the project still remains one of Dancho's favorite and most popular visited security Web site on a daily basis.

At a later stage I decided to establish a working relationship with Frame4 Security Systems which is a Dutch-based company for the purpose of writing an improved version of the original "How to use trojan horses" paper which later on became the "The Complete Windows Trojans Paper" which quickly became one of the Scene's most popular and highly read paper on modern trojan horses and how to use them and how to protect against them.

With the summer coming to an end Dancho got an offer to begin to work at the local office of his ISP (Internet Service Provider) which at the time was Digital Systems for the position of office assistant where he was responsible for introducing new clients to the ISP's service offering and for processing invoices. Among the key benefits for working at the local ISP office was the actual bandwidth that he got access to allowing him to access the Internet without any sort of limitations which he used to visit some of his favorite Top50 and Top100 security and hacking Web sites where he eventually downloaded some of the most recently released hacking and security tools including trojan horses which he copied on a floppy disk and eventually brought back home during the lunch break for the purpose of exchanging the information with his second employer at the time which was an anti-trojans vendor using a publicly accessible FTP server for the purpose of helping his employer improve the detection rate for these type of programs and trojan horses. Dancho would then receive a payment for having collected and actually shared these programs and trojan horses which he would use to pay the bills at the time and actually pay for using his ISP's service.

At some point in time he eventually got approached by a guy known as HeLLfiReZ who was interested in working with him and actually sharing his collection of trojan horses which he would then also share with his employer which at the time was LockDownCorp and earn revenue in the process. It would later come to his attention that the guy that approached him was actually one of the key members of the infamous Sub7 trojan horse group which at a particular point in time was responsible for launching a DDoS (Distributed Denial of Service) attack against the researcher Steve Gibson who extensively profiled the campaign and actually had a conversation with HeLLfiReZ and his team members for the purpose of finding out how launched the attack and how it took place.

He would eventually run a personal hacking and security Web site archive using hosting courtesy of his employer LockDownCorp and run a popular Hacking and Security Web site which he would then feature on Progenic.com's Top100 Hacking and Security Web sites including to actually offer paid security consultations in terms of finding out ways to help people protect their home PCs from trojan horses and teaching them how to use a firewall and how they can secure their home PCs.

At a later stage in his early Information Security career he would visit and join <https://itsecurity.com>'s Security Clinic where he would have his personal biography featured and actually respond to common security questions which users of the Web site will submit and have his response featured on the front page potentially driving traffic to his employer at the time which was Frame4 Security Systems and actually improving his knowledge and understanding of Information Security in general.

Dancho was also known for having participated in the Blackcode Ravers hacking group which was running the popular <https://blackcode.com> Web site at the time and actually participated with two issues of a popular Security Newsletter at the time which were featured on the home page of the portal.

During the glorious years of IRC (Internet Relay Chat) where Dancho was busy hanging on several IRC networks including DALNet and his local country's IRC network he managed to obtain the /etc/shadow password file for his entire ISP (Internet Service Provider) which at the time was Digital Systems and shared a copy of it with his best friend at the time George Kadiyski for the purpose of using several popular and high-profile Wordlists including John the Ripper password cracker potentially obtaining access and brute-forcing the entire password list for hundreds of active dial-up Internet based accounts at the time. Over a period of several days the results at the time were outstanding in the context of actually succeeding in the brute-forcing process potentially allowing Dancho and his friend to easily access free Internet based dial-up accounts which at the time cost money allowing them to use the Internet for free.

At a later stage Dancho also managed to obtain access to his local town's competing ISP (Internet Service Provider) which was known as BIANet /etc/shadow which was sent to him by a friend and he also once again shared it with his friend who would once again begin brute-forcing the password file using a variety of Wordlists and the infamous John the Ripper password cracking tool at the time potentially allowing Dancho and his friend easy access to unlimited Internet based dial-up connectivity.

The time has come to play a game. Dancho quickly powered his 16-bit Pravetz PC 2MB RAM and a screen full of computer game choices quickly appeared prompting him to choose a game. While loading a relatively known game known as Scorch Dancho decided to play two hours and then proceed with meeting his friends and start a discussion with his grandma. A huge fan of strategy games Dancho decided that he didn't have the time to dedicate to play his favorite game — Sid Meier's Civilization and instead he figured that he would eventually play the game later throughout the day. Playing Scorch was quite an experience and he took a few hours of his precious learning time to interact with the game. He then decided to approach his best friend at the time and co-conspirator in the World of UFO's the Soviet Union and computer games including the hacking Scene for two hours of extensive game play where we would strategize on how to best "approach" the Soviet Union in terms of invasion actively and carefully planning every move on our way to invade the Soviet Union and eventually all the surrounding countries. While I was busy preparing for our several hour game play George was supposed to be busy going through a CD which was basically a mirror of Packetstormsecurity in particular the E-Zine section so that we can prepare to have a conversation in terms of working out our technological and military strategy on our way to achieve global domination in the original Sid Meier's Civilization. What we basically did in the beginning was to strategize and actually get a better view of the technology tree of the game and while I was busy moving the Empire along George was busy keeping notes on our way to keep track and advance our military strategy on a "first come first serve" basis.

Provoked by the need to reach out to a vast network of computers known as the Internet — Dancho quickly decided that the time has come to get connected — so that he decided to seek a proper connection provider in his local home-town. Back in the day the primary connection providers in the time were Bulgaria's Digital Systems BIA Net and the country's leading mobile connectivity provider — Mtel's pre-paid dial-up cards. Times were different in terms of connectivity and DSL and ADSL were a dream come true in the face of corporate networks properly utilizing and using ISDN type of based connectivity. Keeping it simple — Dancho decided to quickly acquire the necessary dial-up modem — which he would eventually fall in love with potentially reaching out to a vast network of computers known as the Internet using the help of a local dial-up provider known as Digital Systems. Back in the day — hourly based dial-up access meant think twice about what you do and how you do it online which means that I would have to basically prepare a plan for the things that I'll do online including Web sites which I would have to visit including a set of emails which I would have to send to a set of people including friends and colleagues.

It's been years since he prepared to acquire a personal computer and get connected meaning that he managed to prepare a list of Web sites and newsgroups on the topic of hacking and computer security including general Web sites that he would eventually visit. Among the first Web sites that he visited was NBA.com where he would quickly learn about the latest developments on his favorite team including daily going through photos and possibly video material to showcase his favorite team at the time. Among the most venerable experienced he first discovered prior to getting connected is to search for UFO photos and information on the KGB including the active reproduction of sound using his external speakers in a MIDI-dominated World at the time. The most venerable and unforgettable experience at the time was the fact that he had access to an email which he used to keep in touch with the Internet Service Provider's system administrator so that he could keep in touch with him including the active sharing of new Web site links for him to visit and exchange communication.

Among the next most prominent and key features of the Internet which I used at the time was ICQ in particular the fact that the messages from my hometown traveled to the capital of the country in real-time which was particularly impressive in particular the fact that I was receiving immediate responses to my messages. It was fairly logical to conclude that the active exchange of messages on ICQ and actual contacts was crucial to becoming popular and actually attempting to own the Scene. What I practically did at the time was to request several of my friends which were known to have been involved in the Scene at the time to forward and exchange a decent set of ICQ contacts of fellow members of the Scene which quickly empowered me with the necessary contacts to join several hacking groups in particular HackHouse and the Social Engineering Project where I was proud to be a member of.

Among the first groups which I really joined at the time was Toxic Crisco which basically represented a group of individuals involved in a variety of online activities including possibly hacking including the SCR Project which was basically a social engineering driven hacking group where I was proud to be a member of in particular my active involvement in reading various high-profile psychology books at the time.

For the purpose of using IRC in particular DALnet Dancho quickly gathered a copy of the popular mIRC including several War Scripts ICQ Bombers Nukers and Mail Bombers including trojan horses and quickly decided that he should start getting experienced in the world of hacking for the purpose of gaining knowledge and impressing his friends. Among the first channels that he actually joined at the time were #gay and #lesbian where he was basically portraying himself as another person who was basically seeking to offer a new and novel photos-based screensaver to a variety of individuals for the purpose of tricking them into executing the screensaver on their home PCs ultimately gaining access to their PCs using a popular trojan horse client at the time such as for instance Sub7.

It would be fairly easy to assume how things got complicated with Dancho quickly obtaining access to Internet Relay Chat's primary mIRC application including a variety of IRC-based "War Scripts" including a dozen of mail-bombers and various other ICQ-based type of Nukers and Flooders on his way to demonstrate a proper technical know-how to his friends and peers in the shady world of hacking. Among the first channels he tried to access were #hacker #hackers #hacking and the infamous #hackphreak on EFNet including to actually open several personal channels on the local IRC networks including #drugs #KGB and #linuxsecurity. At a later stage he actually managed to ask a friend for a possible operator status on the local town's IRC channel where he was basically running a 24/7 online protection bot known as xexploit including the active use of a Socks5 server which at the time was offered by his employer LockDownCorp where he was busy acting as Technical Collector of trojan horses/worms/viruses and VBS scripts for the purpose of improving the anti-trojan software's signatures-based detection rates.

Among the first thing that Dancho decided to do in his spare time is to actively research the local Webmaster of his hometown's official Web site for the purpose of attempting to launch a social engineering attack against his local town's official Web site which basically succeed and resulted in a "greeting" message being posted on the official Web site with no actual data destruction and data removal taking place in what would appear to be a professional approach when compromising a legitimate Web site for the purpose of greeting his personal friends and spread a message on behalf of "Trojan Hacking Group" which at the time basically consisted of one of his closest friends and another fellow hacker enthusiast.

Among his responsibilities the time included the active collection of trojan horses/worms/viruses and VBS Scripts with the idea to share them with his employer which at the time was LockDownCorp one of the world's leading anti-trojan vendors for the purpose of improving the detection rate for these publicly accessible trojan horses in what would later on mature into a successful Technical Collection operation which basically paid his bills and actually offered him a decent financial incentive to continue getting involved in security as a hacker enthusiast and actually improved his employer's overall detection rate for some of the most prolific trojan horses at the time.

The actual contractual agreement had to do with Dancho using a private FTP server where he would spend hours uploading collected trojan horses using his home-based dial-up connection and eventually earning a revenue in the process using Western Union where he was happy to have established direct working relationship with one of the world's leading anti-trojans vendors which at the time was located at — <http://proxy2.stealthedip.com/maniac/incoming/>

Whenever Dancho would attempt to reach out to his friends he would attempt to find out whether they are online using a popular trojan horse including to actually check his email account for their recently changed passwords and other related information including their current IP so that he can properly connect to their home PC for educational purposes.

Being the World's most notable cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst the researcher quickly gained fame by systematically and efficiently profiling and analyzing a decent snapshot of malicious nation-state and fraudulent activity online leading him to pursue a successful career as the World's most popular cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst.

In an early Monday morning the researcher quickly gathered a set of research materials of the primary botnet that's he's been monitoring the infamous Koobface botnet using passive and active virtual SIGINT methodologies which basically include active sampling of the botnet's malicious online activities using a daily set of intercepted malicious and fraudulent campaigns launched managed and operated by the Koobface botnet for the purpose of providing the necessary technical operational and strategic OSINT type of intelligence including the daily batch of money mule recruitment domains and campaigns which he was busy profiling with the idea to assist U.S Law Enforcement on its way to track down and prosecute the cybercriminals behind these campaigns.

The Koobface botnet was the primary botnet propagating over social media at the time in particular Facebook and has already managed to affect tens of thousands of users globally potentially enticing them to interact with rogue and visual social engineering based type of malicious and fraudulent campaigns in the form of Fake Adobe Flash Players and fake YouTube videos where the ultimate goal would be to attempt to affect their friends on Facebook by sending automated and legitimately looking messages including links to rogue and malicious content.

On a beautiful Thursday afternoon Dancho decided to play a decent computer game while his mother was busy ironing in the kid's room and decided to take a journey successfully getting the World rid of hostile aliens. The game called Duke Nukem basically took Dancho on a journey to another World where he spend most of his afternoon getting rid of evil aliens while he led a discussion with his mother on his whereabouts during the day including active next-day class preparation and the eventual dinner conversation. While mom was busy ironing Dancho took on another journey to a distant World where he took care of and protected the Earth from evil aliens and decided that the time has come for a rest.

Some of the most memorable memories of Dancho back in the time have to do with playing full-time one of the best strategy games during the 90's that's Sid Meier's Civilization. Spending a decent portion of his time basically four hours on a daily basis Dancho quickly acquired the necessary skills to take his civilization to a new level by waging wars developing and exchanging new technologies and by waging wars with competing and adversary civilizations.

Having already mastered the power of the Civilization game Dancho quickly fell into a World of politics technologies and wars and successfully mapped and left a foothold in the World the way he knew and mastered having successfully spend a decent portion of his time playing the best strategy game during the 90's that's Sid Meier's Civilization. Game World is something different. Whenever Dancho decided to play a game the World came to a halt with Dancho playing and learning the basics and inner workings of every game that he managed to get his hands on throughout the 90's.

Pushing the boundaries of the game at some point Dancho decided to take a deeper look at how you can actually make the computer's player become more advanced and sophisticated and actually tried to train the AI of the game and potentially figured out a way to teach to use advanced warfare tactics.

It would be fairly easy to assume how things got complicated with Dancho quickly obtaining access to Internet Relay Chat's primary mIRC application including a variety of IRC-based "War

Being the World’s most notable cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst the researcher quickly gained fame by systematically and efficiently profiling and analyzing a decent snapshot of malicious nation-state and fraudulent activity online leading him to pursue a successful career as the World’s most popular cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst.

Back in 2007 I got a direct invitation to attend a private and invite-only conference event held by the HoneyNet Project at the U.K's GCHQ which I actually attended and presented on a variety of topics including current and emerging cybercrime trends and actually got the opportunity to meet with the folks from the HoneyNet Project.

In 2008 I got a surprise invitation to join the team at ZDNet a web site portal which I greatly admired while I was busy working for <https://astalavista.com> and I was in fact visiting on a daily basis where I spend a highly professional and productive 4 years as a security blogger at ZDNet's Zero Day blog leading to me to thousands of publications including an actual award-winning Jessie H. Neal Award for working on ZDNet's Zero Day blog.

Working for ZDNet greatly shaped my professional well-being in a way that I was basically working with top-notch technology experts from across the globe and actually had the chance to contribute with personal content and research for a period of four years which was an unforgettable experience and it's still a pleasure and a honor to touch base and actually find a way to contribute and say hi to the people that I used to work with back in 2008.

At some point in time I eventually got invited to attend a private and invite-only conference where I presented on money mule recruitment practices and eventually got the privilege to meet most of the people that I work with on a face-to-face basis where we hang out and actually socialized and discussed various hot topics and cybercrime trends internationally.

Dancho began his career in the world of Intelligence Studies greatly provoked by research published and distributed by a U.S based company known as iDefense which basically specializes in profiling online hacktivism activity and is basically capable of producing high-quality and never-published before threat intelligence and general intelligence briefs. Among the key reports that Dancho was able to get his hands on was the U.S/China skirmish which basically consisted of various U.S and Chinese based groups actively interacting online by launching DDoS (Distributed Denial of Service) attacks against their infrastructure and participating in Web site defacement campaigns. He would then research and actively visit the CIA.gov's official Web site including FAS.org and NSA.gov seeking manuals and research material on Open Source Intelligence (OSINT) which would later on greatly contribute to help him become one of the World's leading experts in the field of cybercrime research and threat intelligence gathering.

In an early Monday morning the researcher quickly gathered a set of research materials of the primary botnet that's he's been monitoring the infamous Koobface botnet. His main motivation behind tracking down and monitoring one of the most prolific botnet that was spreading across Facebook at the time was to assist the Security Industry and researchers internationally including U.S law enforcement on their way to keep track of the botnet's activities and eventually attempt to take it offline and actually attempt to track down some of the authors behind it.

Dancho's daily routine consisted of checking the most recent campaigns launched by the gang and actually offer in-depth technical analysis on the latest campaigns publicly disseminating and profiling the campaigns at his personal blog leading him to a specific set of detailed and in-depth analysis of the Koobface botnet one of the few publicly accessible analysis resources on the topic at the time.

The botnet masters at the time were basically known to keep track of Dancho's research and eventually left a message embedded in the actual C&C infrastructure basically greeting the researcher for his research including a second and a third message during the Christmas season including an actual point-by-point response to his "Top 10 Things You Didn't Know About the Koobface Gang" article which he published at ZDNet's Zero Day blog.

At a later stage he would present his findings in a Keynote Presentation at CyberCamp 2016 on the topic of "Exposing Koobface — The World's Largest Botnet" in front of a high-quality audience and actually discuss in-depth how he tracked it down and eventually attempted to take it offline.

While he was busy studying in the Netherlands he became familiar what appeared to be one of the most popular Web sites for hackers on the Web known as Astalavista.com where he managed to actually find the real company behind the portal and actually approached.

Getting Connected

Provoked by the need to reach out to a vast network of computers known as the Internet - Sten quickly decided that the time has come to get connected - so that he decided to seek a proper connection provider in his local home-town. Back in the day the primary connection providers in the time were Bulgaria's Digital Systems BIA Net and the country's leading mobile connectivity provider - Mtel's pre-paid dial-up cards. Times were different in terms of connectivity and DSL and ADSL were a dream come true in the face of corporate networks properly utilizing and using ISDN type of based connectivity. Keeping it simple - Sten decided to quickly acquire the necessary dial-up modem - which he would eventually fall in love with potentially reaching out to a vast network of computers known as the Internet using the help of a local dial-up provider known as Digital Systems. The most venerable and unforgettable experience at the time was the fact that he had access to an email which he used to keep in touch with the Internet Service Provider's system administrator

Bogdan Dochev so that he could keep in touch with him including the active sharing of new Web site links for him to visit and exchange communication.

Among the next most prominent and key features of the Internet which I used at the time was ICQ in particular the fact that the messages from my hometown traveled to the capital of the country in real-time which was particularly impressive in particular the fact that I was receiving immediate responses to my messages. Owning the Game

On a beautiful Thursday afternoon Stan decided to play a decent computer game while his mother was busy ironing in the kid's room and decided to take a journey successfully getting the World rid of hostile aliens. The game called Duke Nukem basically took Stan on a journey to another World where he spend most of his afternoon getting rid of evil aliens while he led a discussion with his mother on his whereabouts during the day including active next-day class preparation and the eventual dinner conversation. Pushing the boundaries of the game at some point Stan decided to take a deeper look at how you can actually make the computer's player become more advanced and sophisticated and actually tried to train the AI of the game and potentially figured out a way to teach to use advanced warfare tactics.

The primary source of new games which were basically coming from Russian-distributed CDs at the time was Pavel Vitkov a close friend to Dancho who was actually possessing and was able to negotiate and obtain some of the latest and most popular games worth playing at the time. While Dancho was busy becoming a master of Sid Meier's Civilization most of his friends and colleagues at the time were busy playing another game part of the franchise known as Colonization which despite the fact that it was pretty similar to Sid Meier's Civilization couldn't really offer the necessary global politics and war strategy tactics including possible espionage tactics which Dancho was looking for in a modern game at the time.

Online is Trouble

It would be fairly easy to assume how things got complicated with Sten quickly obtaining access to Internet Relay Chat's primary mIRC application including a variety of IRC-based "War Scripts" including a dozen of mail-bombers and various other ICQ-based type of Nukers and Flooders on his way to demonstrate a proper technical know-how to his friends and peers in the shady world of hacking. Among the first channels he tried to access were #hacker #hackers #hacking and the infamous #hackphreak on EFNet including to actually open several personal channels on the local IRC networks including #drugs #KGB and #linuxsecurity. At a later stage he actually managed to ask a friend for a possible operator status on the local town's IRC channel where he was basically running a 24/7 online protection bot known as xexploit including the active use of a Socks5 server which at the time was offered by his employer LockDownCorp where he was busy acting as Technical Collector of trojan horses/worms/viruses and VBS scripts for the purpose of improving the anti-trojan software's signatures-based detection rates.

Sample Socks5 Commercially-available servers courtesy of LockDownCorp one of Stan's current employers at the time which he used to increase his reputation on the local IRC Network and to actually hide his real IP

Among the first thing that Stan decided to do in his spare time is to actively research the local Webmaster of his hometown's official Web site for the purpose of attempting to launch a social engineering attack against his local town's official Web site which basically succeed and resulted in a "greeting" message being posted on the official Web site with no actual data destruction and data removal taking place in what would appear to be a professional approach when compromising a legitimate Web site for the purpose of greeting his personal friends and spread a message on behalf of "Trojan Hacking Group" which at the time basically consisted of one of his closest friends and another fellow hacker enthusiast.

The actual contractual agreement had to do with Stan using a private FTP server where he would spend hours uploading collected trojan horses using his home-based dial-up connection and eventually earning a revenue in the process using Western Union where he was happy to have established direct working relationship with one of the world's leading anti-trojans vendors which at the time was located at - <http://proxy2.stealthedip.com/maniac/incoming/>

Whenever Stan would attempt to reach out to his friends he would attempt to find out whether they are online using a popular trojan horse including to actually check his email account for their recently changed passwords and other related information including their current IP so that he can properly connect to their home PC for educational purposes.

The primary purpose for connecting to a friend's PC using a popular trojan horse would be purely for educational purposes with no actual hard or any sort of eavesdropping taking place.

Owning the Scene

While Dancho was busy studying in the Netherlands he was busy persistently checking one of the World's most popular and high-trafficked Web sites for hackers and security experts - Astalavista.com - and sticking to the common wisdom circa the 90's where everyone was busy making contributions and launching new groups - he decided to approach the company behind the portal with a possible business proposal that basically consisted of having him monitor and actually maintain the portal in terms of content including the actual production of a high-profile Security Newsletter where we would produce security and hacking articles including a featured Security Interview with key members from the Scene and the Security Industry.

Prior to getting a confirmation from a Team Member of the actual owner of the portal at the time Dancho quickly began entering into negotiations about a possibly paid including a free venture at the time where he could earn a small commission for producing a high-quality security newsletter and actually be responsible for all the security and hacking content at Astalavista.com on a monthly and daily basis.

As he began working on the monthly newsletter the first issue including the remaining twenty six issues which he produced over a period of three years were quite a success including the actual Geeky Photos section where portal users could send in photos of their desktop computers for the purpose of featuring them at the Web site potentially promoting their desktop setups to our audience at the time eventually leading him and the portal to win a PCMagazine Top 100 Security Sites Award back in 2005.

Among Dancho's main responsibilities at the time where the daily updating of the portal with high quality security documents tools and presentations including actual hacking and security links and overall responsibility for all the content at the Web site including the production of a highly popular security newsletter at the time including to actually answer and work on possible partnership and advertising inquiries at the time which led to a successful repositioning of the portal as one of the primary information security portal services online.

Among the key folks and individuals that he interviewed during his management of Astalavista.com and asked some pretty decent and relevant questions at the time include:

- Proge, Progenic.com
- Jason Scott, TextFiles.com
- Kevin Townsend, ITSecurity.com
- Richard Menta, BankInfoSecurity.com

My Personal Blog

It used to be a decent period of time back in December, 2005 when I was originally planning to launch my personal blog while working as a Managing Director for the infamous <https://astalavista.com> also known as Astalavista Security Group.

Astalavista Security Group was one of the Web's primary and most popular hacking and security portals in the world back in 1997 which I undertook in terms of content throughout the period of 2003-2006 for the position of Managing Director where I was also responsible for the release of a monthly Security Newsletter to approximately 22,000 subscribers including a featured Security Interview every month.

The Russian Business Network

Jessus. Who would have thought? At a specific point in my time and my career as a cybercrime fighter and cybercrime researcher including OSINT analyst and threat intelligence analyst at some point in time after approximately a decade in fighting bad guys and actually tracking them down and exposing their infrastructure I finally got a very interesting email which was basically a screenshot courtesy of a Russian Business Network franchise member that was basically showcasing ownership over their primary domain which was nearly impossible to receive and in specific the fact that the original and primary Russian Business Network franchise domain name doesn't really exist in the context of having virtual no clues of its online existence which was quite a remarkable success in the context that it would have motivated many to pursue a pension in the field which basically included the actual message saying "hi" and greeting me which was quite a success at the time in the context of receiving a personal message from the Russian Business Network franchise proving ownership of their primary domain name.

How did I originally stumbled upon the Russian Business Network? It was by going through other people's research on the topic and basically by doing my job at the time which was quite a success in terms of daily monitoring for malicious and fraudulent online activity which led me to stumble upon their malicious infrastructure on numerous occasions in specific to find out more about their rogue and malicious bulletproof hosting infrastructure which used to dominate the threat landscape at the time in terms of popularity and the primary bulletproof hosting provider for a variety of cybercriminals internationally.

I was also originally inspired by the usual source of inspiration for me which was basically iDefense actual threat research reports at the time that were basically going a step beyond the typical threat intelligence reports and were basically including all the necessary and in-depth details on various cyber threat actors at the time including primary sources of cybercrime activity internationally.

The Koobface Botnet

Back in the day my primary area of occupation was to monitor and track down the Koobface botnet where I was basically acting as the primary source of real-time and actionable intelligence on the whereabouts of the Koobface botnet including to actually profile and analyze some of their latest campaigns which led to a variety of pretty interesting situations where they've actually redirected Facebook's entire IP space to my personal blog including to actually leave several greeting within the botnet's C&C channel in terms of sending me a message and greeting me including a step by step response to my "Top 10 Things You Didn't Know About the Koobface Gang" article where they actually responded to my ZDNet article at the time in a step by step fashion.

At a specific point in time I was originally invited to held the Keynote presentation at the CyberCamp 2016 security conference where I presented on the topic of tracking down and monitoring the Koobface one of the world's largest botnets which was a tremendous success in the context of communicating most of my research to a wider audience.

Back in 2011 while I was busy living in another town I actually met with a NYTime reporter for the purpose of catching up and elaborating more on my research on the Koobface botnet which was quite a success in terms of communicating my findings to a proper party which eventually led to a high-profile quote on my research on the Koobface botnet in the original NYTimes.com

At a specific point in time my primary area of occupation included the active monitoring and taking down of the Koobface botnet which at the time was the only active social media propagating botnet that was successfully targeting Facebook in terms of spreading malicious software across the social media platform successfully affecting its users.

The gang then continued its underground marketplace activities by starting to serve client-side exploits to users visiting major Koobface Web properties that also includes fake YouTube including Flash Player serving Web sites part of the Koobface botnet.

Following a series of messages left on the actual C&C (Command and Control) server locations which were basically greeting me and referencing my research at the time including a series of typosquatted domains using my name at some point in time I managed to actually come up with a proper "Top 10 Things You Didn't Know About the Koobface Gang" article for ZDNet at the time wheret the botnet masters actually left a message within the C&C (Command and Control) server location basically answering the key points on a point by point basis which was quite a success at the time of monitoring and tracking down the Koobface botnet.

Getting in Trouble

Being the World's most notable cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst the researcher quickly gained fame by systematically and efficiently profiling and analyzing a decent snapshot of malicious nation-state and fraudulent activity online leading him to pursue a successful career as the World's most popular cybercrime researcher security blogger and threat intelligence analyst.

In an early Monday morning the researcher quickly gathered a set of research materials of the primary botnet that's he's been monitoring the infamous Koobface botnet using passive and active virtual SIGINT methodologies which basically include active sampling of the botnet's malicious online activities using a daily set of intercepted malicious and fraudulent campaigns launched managed and operated by the Koobface botnet for the purpose of providing the necessary technical operational and strategic OSINT type of intelligence including the daily batch of money mule recruitment domains and campaigns which he was busy profiling with the idea to assist U.S Law Enforcement on its way to track down and prosecute the cybercriminals behind these campaigns.

The Koobface botnet was the primary botnet propagating over social media at the time in particular Facebook and has already managed to affect tens of thousands of users globally potentially enticing them to interact with rogue and visual social engineering based type of malicious and fraudulent campaigns in the form of Fake Adobe Flash Players and fake YouTube videos where the ultimate goal would be to attempt to affect their friends on Facebook by sending automated and legitimately looking messages including links to rogue and malicious content.

What what particularly interesting about the Koobface botnet at the time was the easy to track down and monitor actual C&C and campaign infrastructure where I was busy tracking it down and publishing my findings on a daily basis for the purpose of empowering my blog readers and the security community with the necessary threat intelligence on the actual whereabouts of the Koobface botnet in terms of offering as much technical details as possible with the idea to profile and keep track of its campaigns potentially assisting Facebook at the time including fellow security researchers on their way to track down and monitor the campaign.

It used to be a moment in time when I was busy practically commanding a vast network of loyal readers through the direct and persistent distribution of my high-quality research to a network of my blog readers where the ultimate idea was to spread a message and to actually communicate my research and blog posts to as many people as possible.

Back in the day I had approximately 11,000 Twitter followers and approximately 7,000 RSS blog readers which is quite impressive for a one-man operation since December, 2005 when I originally launched my personal blog (<https://ddanchev.blogspot.com>). A couple of years later I realized that I've participated in a Top Secret GCHQ Program called "Lovely Horse" which aims to utilize publicly accessible sources of information for cyber defense purposes also known as OSINT for cyber defense which was quite a success at the time and it was a privilege and an honor to participate in the program.

It took me a couple of hours to successfully track down and monitor the Koobface botnet which led me to publish an OSINT analysis which basically offered an in-depth personally identifiable information on one of its botnet masters which was quite a success at the time and led me to a DW interview including a reference in a NYTimes article on the topic. Back in the day I was the primary source of information on the Koobface botnet where my primary responsibilities included the daily monitoring of the newly launched campaigns where the ultimate goal was to offer an in-depth technical and enriched information on the currently circulating campaigns where the ultimate goal was to attempt to profile and also attempt to take them offline.

Throughout my Koobface investigations and research I once got a personal message from the Koobface gang which was embedded within the actual C&C infrastructure and was basically greeting me including several C&C server domains which were typosquatted using my name.

Presentations and Events

Among my most recent accomplishments in the field of conference events and presentations include my appearance at Bulgaria's flaship Cyber Security Talks event where I held a presentation in front of approximately eighty people and did my best to properly present my experience and expertise in the field where I also got the chance to meet and socialize with a lot of interesting people and folks interested in the topic.

Among my other conference and event attendance achievements includes the visiting and making a presentation at U.K'S GCHQ where I got invited to make a presentation with the HoneyNet Project back in 2008.

Yet another presentation and conference event attendance achievements was to meet with some of my primary colleagues and friends from the industry at an invite only conference event back in 2010 where I held a presentation on the topic of money mule recruitment and the actual ecosystem behind the process.

OPSEC Failure

Consider obtaining one of the following "stripped" mobile devices in terms of hardened mobile OS offering in-depth and multi-layered security and privacy protection features for the purpose of bypassing wide-spread surveillance techniques and techniques. Ensuring that you possess a "stripped" mobile device is crucial for ensuring the necessary degree of personal privacy to stay ahead of current and emerging Cyber Threats including wide-spread privacy violations courtesy of the U.S Intelligence Community and various other nation-state and rogue actors including cybercriminals.

The next logical step would be to ensure that the metadata on the device in terms of Web browsing including possible public and proprietary service use is properly obfuscated. Among the primary concerns whenever you choose to obfuscate a particular set of data would be possible supply-chain infiltration on behalf of the U.S Intelligence community in particular purchase orders that would further allow me to collerate and potentially identify a particular end user based on the actual supply-chain infiltration. One of the primary concerns in today's modern Internet world largely dominated by wide-spread surveillance courtesy of the U.S Intelligence Community including rogue and potentially malicious actors including nation-state and cybercriminals is the direct exposing of an individual's private network including possible collerated-based events that could potentially identify and track down a particular individual.

In terms of mobile device obfuscation the end user is largely advised to take advantage of personal firewall for the purpose of monitoring outgoing and incoming connections on the device in particularly blocking all-incoming connections and closely monitoring outgoing connections. Furthermore, what an end user can potentially do in terms of hardening their mobile device is to ensure that it does not leak back any internal IP addresses including possibly the device MAC address potentially exposing the device user's internal and private network potentially falling victim to "ABSOLINE EPILSON" type of end point and mobile device targeting type of attacks and campaigns courtesy of the U.S Intelligence Community including other rogue factors including nation-state actors and cybercriminals in general. How you should proceed in order to archive this process? Keep reading.

Next to the general use of "stripped" mobile devices end users should also consider the following highly recommended tactics techniques and procedures for the purpose of protecting their IP (Intellectual Property) including their mobile device and end point device's confidentiality availability and integrity.

The next logical step would be to stay away from mainstream mobile devices citing potential Security and Privacy in mind including the use of a properly selected VPN service provider for the purpose of applying basic traffic obfuscation techniques including end-point network isolation in this particular context the end user and the organization should definitely look forward to implement a possible VPN provider actually "mixing" public legitimate jurisdiction-aware infrastructure with privacy-aware public or proprietary network technology - in this particular case VPN2Tor type of technology.

Windows-based users should definitely consider using and learning how to use the Advanced Tor Router application which basically offers a diverse set of unique privacy-enhancing and privacy-preserving featuring while utilizing the Tor Network further ensuring and offering a free solution for end users interested in preserving their Web browsing activities including possible network-wide Tor Network adoption on per OS and on per application-based basis. What does this application has to offer in terms of unique privacy-preserving features? Basically it offers a variety of unique and never presented or discussed before type of Tor-Network and end-point privacy-enhancing or preserving features further ensuring that the end user will remain properly protected from sophisticated network-based and client-based type of attack campaigns potentially aiming to identify and expose their identity. What's worth emphasizing on in terms of the application is the unique set of privacy-preserving and oriented client-side feature in terms of possibly privacy-oriented and secure browsing experience.

What would be an appropriate choice for a VPN-provider basically offering the necessary peace of mind in terms of network-based connectivity with privacy-enabled solutions in mind in terms of possible no-logs policy including related value-added features further enhancing the necessary privacy-based no-logs policy in today's modern Internet World with widespread surveillance and privacy-violations courtesy of the U.S Intelligence Community and various other rogue actors including nation-state and cybercriminals in general? Keep reading.

Trying to Go Back Online

Among the first things that I did prior to trying to pop up online back in full speed and fashion was to quickly built a set of projects including to launch several popular and interesting initiatives such as for instance Law Enforcement and OSINT operation called “Uncle George” where the ultimate goal was to collect as much publicly accessible information on the bad guys then data mine and present my findings to the wider security industry and community including to look for and present tons of actionable intelligence on the bad guys which could have been useful in the context of having vendors and organizations attempt to launch cyber attack and cyber campaign attribution efforts against these individuals.

At some specific point in time I came across the local for Bulgaria Cyber Security Talks event where I applied to make a presentation which got accepted which led me to eventually pop up at the event in front of eighty people and make a high-quality personal presentation on cybercrime research OSINT and threat intelligence including my general experience in the field as an expert in the field of cybercrime research OSINT and threat intelligence gathering where I’m an independent contractor since practically December, 2005.

OSINT is Power

It used to be a moment when I originally started getting involved in OSINT (Open Source Intelligence) as an independent contractor when I originally came across to the following document which greatly inspired me to join this space - “Reexamining the Distinction Between Open Information and Secrets” while browsing through Globalsecurity.org Fas.org Cryptome.org at that time. The primary reason why OSINT inspired me to become an independent contractor in this space in specific information security is the fact that a lot of the documents that I had to go through to learn what OSINT is and how to do it were either classified or publicly accessible however coming from important sources of information such as for instance the CIA.gov including various other U.S Government and U.S Intelligence Community sources of information.

It is my opinion that the power of OSINT primary relies on the actual collection and working with the actual decision-making information using public sources which also includes actual enrichment and colleration between multiple sources of publicly accessible classified and declassified information which makes this area quite interesting to join from an independent contractor perspective in the information security field.

What I truly happened to realize when I originally read the original document back in the 90’s is that OSINT in terms of fighting cybercrime should be conducted in as fast as possible way fashion including when taking into consideration the higher goal which in my personal case was and is and continues to be the fight against cybercriminals and cyber threat actors.

Throughout the years I’ve also managed to realize the potential of something that I describe as historical OSINT and historical use of information to connect the dots including the use of historical OSINT assets inventory build up in the form of building historical OSINT databases in the context of for instance full copies of public cybercrime-friendly forum communities for trends and situational awareness improving and spotting including the use of historical OSINT artifacts which on the majority of occasions proved an invaluable resource in my historical and current OSINT research and investigations into the bad guy's infrastructure and what they were truly up to and are up to present day in terms of cybercrime-friendly forum market propositions and actual cybercrime trends globally and internationally.

OSINT is great when you have access to information and this is where I've always looked into Google as a primary source of information which I later on began processing collecting and enriching which led me to a pretty interesting Law Enforcement and OSINT project where my primary goal was to collect as many public cybercrime-friendly forum communities and distribute them to the appropriate parties where the ultimate goal would be to data mine and process and enrich this information potentially leading to a personally identifiable set of information which basically resulted in a decades of actionable intelligence information to be processed and worked on in personal and commercial ventures where the ultimate goal was and will always be to track down and monitor and make impact within the cybercrime ecosystem in the context of disrupting and exposing cybercriminal activity globally and internationally.

Sample OSINT research that I conducted during 2022:

Personally Identifiable Information: Omid Ghaffarinia is a primary member of Iranian-based ITSec Team sought by and prosecuted by U.S Law Enforcement and is also known to be a member of Ashiyane Digital Security Team and is using the Plus handle and is also known to be using the following email addresses - omid.ghaffarinia@gmail.com; plus.ashiyane@gmail.com; omid.ghaffarinia@alum.sharif.edu and has a personal phone - 091 2444 9002 and is using the following Personal Page - <http://omidplus.persianguig.com/> including the following Google+ account - <https://plus.google.com/109226633947780718251>

Sample Omid Ghaffarinia Personal Documents:

Maltego Power

Do you know which is the coolest cybercrime research and threat intelligence visualization tool around that's also available as a community version but also includes powerful and easy to use features in its commercial version and is made available online exclusively for researchers? That would be Maltego which I remember actually using back in 2008 even before it was cool to visualize some of my research activities using open source intelligence (OSINT) tool and techniques at the time. The results? An endless mine of visualization capabilities for your own research which would be later on easily converted into possible commercial ventures and publicly accessible high-quality and never-published before type of cybercrime and threat intelligence research.

My OpenCTI Instance

Running a OpenCTI instance was quite an achievement at some point. The very idea that supplying machine readable threat intelligence on current and emerging campaigns could be possible as a one man operation was quite exciting and I couldn't wait to get my hands on an OpenCTI instance which I set up on my own and which I began populating with actionable intelligence on the bad guys on a daily basis. My primary idea here was to build a small database of loyal clients who might be interested in my research and daily supply of actionable intelligence and where I could charge a flat monthly fee for my research and just do my research and do this as a way to pay the bills.

Processing over a dozen of currently active and live malware samples on a daily basis for research purposes was quite an achievement and basically a daily routine which I eventually excelled at to the point of supply daily actionable intelligence to a small set of clients who were interested in protecting their networks and organizations using my research.

Looking beyond what a usual researcher would do here I eventually ended up also adding actionable and qualitative and descriptive analysis and additional context for every campaign that I was profiling and processing at the time which led me to some pretty successful analysis ready for publication and consumption in terms of protecting an organization's infrastructure based on my experience and methodology in the field.

Presenting Astalavista.box.sk

Surprise, surprise. Guess what? I finally did it. Having been actively working on the infamous <https://astalavista.com> throughout 2003-2006 as a Managing Director responsible for all the content I've finally managed to land a permanent project on the original <https://astalavista.box.sk> project throughout the period 2020-2022 where I launched an official security.

Working for WhoisXML API

It's a pleasant day and I'm once again looking for a permanent job position while working in between several part-time OSINT research projects when I'm "finally" approached by a colleague from WhoisXML API who's directly interested in exploring a possible working relationship with me for the position of DNS Threat Researcher which I immediately undertook and this has been and still is my primary and official work place throughout the past two and a half years where I've been busy crunching out and producing high quality and never published or released before white papers on various interesting and novel and informative topics where I've managed to produce approximately 83 white papers on these topics throughout the past two and a half years with great success and a lot of personal success comments from a professional environment where I'm busy researching the bad guy's infrastructure using one of the Web's primary WHOIS and historical WHOIS records lookup databases in the world where I'm product to work and continue working up to present day.

What does a typical day at the company where I work using one of my key qualities which is remote work look like? It's basically sticking to my usual situational awareness improving and maintaining in the field methodology which I've been using and applying throughout the years and then migrating the actionable intelligence that I've either produced on my own or obtained using public sources and enriched in the report of a finished intelligence product into a user and client friendly white paper which will eventually get published on the Web site of the company - <https://whoisxmlapi.com>.

Throughout the period of time that I worked with the company a colleague also introduced me to an organization that I knew for years and greatly admired due to its intersection with technical research and LE (Law Enforcement) where basically users and people who knew a lot on the topic could communicate their findings in a research based form to the National Child Protection Task Force (NCPTF) where I originally requested to participate and offered my expertise in the field and actually participated in a project with great results where me and my colleague including the company got a big “thank you” on Twitter and LinkedIn which was great news as my primary area of expertise lies in the fact that I produce managed and obtain real-time or historical actionable or cyber threat actor threat intelligence which I later on communicate to as many people as possible and actually always do my best to reach out to the affected parties in the context of communicating my findings to LE (Law Enforcement) by either publishing my research and findings on my personal blog or by approaching them using other means where necessary.

Among my key accomplishments within the company was my interest in developing a proprietary Law Enforcement feed with novel and interesting for Law Enforcement only articles of interest on key topics such as for instance cyber threat actors including malicious software and actual malicious and fraudulent infrastructure mapped and exposed in a specific fashion using my own methodology in the usual way.

At a specific point in time I must have gathered a proper momentum among my readers which I never really knew anything about including the bad guys in the context of intercepting a chatter mentioning me in a pretty bad context despite the fact that this is untrue as most of my research and the research that I did was in a passive mode namely I never really engaged anyone in specific friends and colleagues from the industry including the bad guys as I’m a firm believer that you can collect all the information that you need on them without bothering to interact or approach them.

Among the few key comments that I’ve ever come across to referencing me in my entire career on a major cybercrime-friendly forum community was a Darkode discussion including a hitman request for me which apparently managed to find me one way or another including a second discussion which basically referenced my name and insisted that the same thing that took place with me back in 2011 will happen again.

What really took place back in 2011 in my apartment in Sofia where I relocated on my own and where I insisted to live on my own and do my research using my ZDNet salary as a primary means to pay for my rent and living expenses is

Inside the 2007-2009 Series of Cyber Attacks Against Multiple International Embassies - $200

What will you find in this report:

- RBN Connection, New Media Malware Gang connection - “ai siktir” “Die()“, money mule recruitment, money laundering of virtual currency

- 10 pages of insightful, detailed and far-sighted commentary discussing all angles of the attacks in the context of today’s modern cyber espionage arms race

- God’s Eye View of the attacks, through a detailed Mind Map visualizing the activities of the cybercriminals behind the attacks

- Actionable CYBERINT data to assist law enforcement, academics and the private sector in ongoing or past cybercrime investigations
- Complete WHOIS records beyond the WHOIS Privacy settings on the domains used in each of the campaigns
- Complete domain portfolios registered up to the present day using the same emails used to register the malicious domains during 2007-2009 to assist law enforcement, academics and the private sector in catching up with their malicious activities over the years
- Detailed analysis of each and every campaign's domain portfolios (up to present day) further dissecting the fraudulent schemes launched by the same cybercriminals that embedded malware on the embassies' web sites
- Complete IP Hosting History for each and every of the malicious domains/command and control servers during the time of the attack
- The "Big Picture" detailing the inter-connections between the campaigns, with historical OSINT data pointing to the "New Media Malware Gang", back then customers of the Russian Business Network

Bonus Content - The Underground Market for Stolen Credit Cards

Exposing the Market for Stolen Credit Cards Data

What's the average price for a stolen credit card? How are prices shaped within the cybercrime ecosystem? Can we talk about price discrimination within the underground marketplace? Just how easy is to purchase stolen credit cards known as dumps or full dumps, nowadays?

In this intelligence brief, I will expose the market for stolen credit cards data, by profiling 20 gateways for processing of fraudulently obtained financial data.

Key summary points:

- Tens of thousands of stolen credit cards a.k.a. dumps and full dumps offered for sale in a DIY market fashion
- The majority of the carding sites are hosted in the Ukraine and the Netherlands
- Liberty Reserve is the payment option of choice for the majority of the portals
- Four domains are using Yahoo accounts and one using Live.com account for domain registration
- Four of the domains are using identical name servers
- Each DIY gateway for processing of fraudulently obtained financial data has a built-in credit cards checker or offers links to external sites performing the service
- Several of the fraudulent gateways offered proxies-as-a-service, allowing cybercriminals to hide their real IPs by using the malware infected hosts as stepping stones

Sprott Asset Management Questions and Answers

Q: Do I have to sign a contract with your company?

Yes, you have to as you will be an official employee of our company.

Q: What do I have to do in order to become your company employee?

We will send you a letter with detailed instructions. You have to do the following steps to become an official employee of our company:

- 1 - Read the instructions attentively
- 2 - Register having visited the link specified in the letter
- 3 - Print out, read, sign and send the contract via e-mail.
- 4 - Send a copy of one document via e-mail
- 5 - Wait for a call from our manager

Q: What is my wage per month?

Your wage depends on several factors. It depends for example on the frequency of your daily e-mail check, the frequency of replying our calls, the promptness of our instructions fulfilling and the processing of payments.

During the trial period (1 month), you will be paid 4,600$ per month while working on average 3hours per day, Monday-Friday, plus 8% commission from every payment received and processed.

The salary will be sent in the form of wire transfer directly to your account or you may take it from received funds directly. After the trial period your base pay salary will go up to 6,950$ per month, plus 10% commission.

Q: How often will I get the transfers? What will be the amounts of these transfers?

You will receive from 3 to 7 payments per week depending on our clients activity. The amount of each transfer is from 3000$ up to 9000$.

Consequently you receive 8% from each transaction.

Q: How soon will it takes to start?

You will start In 2-3 days after approval letter. Actually we need to verify your profile in anyway so it usually takes over 2-3 business days.

Q: Why do I need to give you my personal information?

We need to verify your personal profile first, to qualify your professional rate.

Q: Why do you need my banking details?

That's a good question Sir/Madam. At this time we cannot accept direct payments and orders from our clients and customers. Due to the local and international law the only way we can sell internationally is to open local sales office/branch or use company representatives for these purposes. That is why we are hiring representatives and asking for a bank details information. You are part of our team and you have full rights.

Q: Is it legal job opportunity? A lot of scam/fraud around internet?

This is absolutely legal opportunity. I can say you more, this is unique job offer from our company and this position is limited. So don't waste your time, join us, you have nothing to lose.

Q: Do I have to pay you in order to start my work?

No! All you have to do is to fulfill our instructions.

Q: And what about MoneyGram/Western Union transfer charge? Do I have to pay for this charge?

No! The charge is paid from the sum which you have to send us.

Q: And what about taxes?

All tax bills are processed by our company and that is why you do not have to worry about it. You receive your 8% charge. All the taxes and expenses are paid by our company.

Q: Do I have to provide you with my confidential data? (on-line access to the bank account, passwords, etc)

Our company will never demand your confidential data. You only send to us the details of your bank account for our clients transfers.

Do not tell your passwords anyone and in any case. Be cautious, do not be a phishing target!

Q: What is the address of your company? Do you have an office?

Yes, the company Sprott Asset Management LP. is registered in the Canada

Our physical address is: Royal Bank Plaza, South Tower 200 Bay Street Suite 2700, PO Box 27
Toronto, Ontario M5J 2J1 Canada

Q: What is the means of money transfer to your clients?

There are two means of money transfer:

- Western Union

- Money Gram

Q: Where is the nearby office in my city? May I send money via Western Union site?

No you may not as on-line transactions limit is 999$.

You may find a nearby office according to the following links:

MoneyGram: <http://www.moneygram.com/eFindUs/findUs.do>

Western Union: <http://www.westernunion.com/info/agentLocator.asp?country=AU>

Here is an example of data which are used for transaction:

Receiver's Name : XXXX XXXXX

Country: XXXXXXXXX

City : XXXXX

Amount to send: $X,XXX.XX

Deduct your profit(8%): $XXX

An address and a bank account number is NOT NECESSARY. We only have to get your Full Name, Country and City in order to get a payment.

Q: You have to render us the following info after the transfer:

- sender's name;

- receiver's name;

- MTCN; (money transfer control number)

- total sent amount;

Q: What is the currency for the transfer via Western Union ?

You have to send USD.

Q: When will I know that money are transferred to my bank account?

We will send you information about money transfer to your e-mail. You have to check your e-mail five times per day - in the morning, afternoon and evening.

You will also receive the notification via SMS or by phone (from our manager)

If you are very busy and can not check your e-mails frequently, you do not suit us then.

Q: When do I have to send you money when the transfer is sent?

You have to send us money at the same day! Otherwise you will be fined.

Q: If I was busy or was not at home and could not receive the money at the same day then what?

In this case you will be fined. Your penalty will be 29$ per day. If you do not send during 3 days then your bank account will be tied.

Please, be responsible. The promptness of money transfer is the motto of our company!

Q: What shall I do if I get the notification about transfer but there will be no money on my bank account?

Such banking delays are possible. The transfer may not be delayed more than 1-2 days. The delays are also possible because of holidays or week-ends. If the money are not sent during the specified term then note us about it and check the transfer again during the next day.

Q: You have sent me a message about the money transfer, I visited the bank but there was no money on my bank account. What shall I do?

Do not worry. Such cases may happen. Just write to us about it. Probably the money transfer is delayed and it will be sent the next day.

Money Transfer and Acceptance

When you received the letter about the transfer to your bank account you will have to read it attentively. There will be the sum of transfer, the sum of your charge which you have to take (this is your wage) and also the information about the money transfer.

There will be time and date in your letter when you have to visit bank and take the money from your account (Usually it is the next day after the delivery of the letter but there are some exceptions).

You have to go to the bank in the morning (9-11 AM). When the money is received you have to go one of the Western Union/Money Gram offices and send the money to our customer (in most cases the transfers are made to Switzerland, the USA, Germany, Latvia or Poland).

Do not forget to take an identity card in order to send a transfer. You will have to render our manager data which are sent to your e-mail in order to transfer the money at the Western Union office.

The example of data:

Receiver's Name : XXXXX XXXX

Nuntry: XXXXXXXX

City : XXXXXXX

When the transfer is made you have to keep the following data (you will get them during money transfer):

- sender's name XXXX XXXX
- receiver's name John Smith
- MTCN; (money transfer control number): 1234567890
- total sent amount $2300

These data must be sent to our e-mail.

“WORKING PROCESS

During all working process you will process incoming and outgoing transfers from our clients. Main duties are: send payments, receive payments, making records of billing, making simple management duties, checking e-mail daily. You have to provide us your cell phone for urgent calls from your manager. If you don't have a cell phone you will need to buy it. You must have basic computer skills to operate main process of job duties.

SALARY

During the trial period (1 month), you will be paid 4,600$ per month while working on average 3hours per day, Monday-Friday, plus 8% commission from every payment received and processed. The salary will be sent in the form of wire transfer directly to your account or you may take it from received funds directly. After the trial period your base pay salary will go up to 6,950$ per month, plus 10% commission.

FEES & TRANSFERING PROCEDURE

All fees are covered by the company. The fees for transferring are simply deducted from the payments received. Customer will not contact you during initial stage of the trial period. After three weeks of the trial period you will begin to have contact with the customers via email in regards to collection of the payments. For the first three weeks you will simply receive all of the transferring details, and payments, along with step by step guidance from your supervisor. You will be forwarding the received payments through transferring agents such as Western Union, Money Gram, any P2P agents or by wire transferring.

WESTERN UNION & MONEYGRAM

1. As soon as You receive money transfers from our clients you are supposed to cash it in your bank.
2. You will need to pick up the cash physically at the bank, as well as a transfer to MoneyGram.
3. Please use MoneyGram, located not in your bank, because this providing of anonymity of our clients.
4. The cashed amounts of money should be transferred to our clients via MoneyGram/Western Union.

according to our transfer instructions except all the fees. The fees are taken from the amount cashed.

5. Not use online service, only physical presence in an office of bank and Western Union.

6. Just after you have transferred money to our clients, please contact your personal manager via e-mail (confirmation of the transfer) and let him (her) know all the details of your Western Union transfer: SENDER'S NAME, CONTACT DETAILS, ADDRESS, AND A REFERENCE NUMBER,

PLEASE BE VERY CAREFUL WHEN YOU RESEND FUNDS, THERE MUST BE NO MISTAKES, because our client will not be able to withdraw the funds.

7. All procedures have to take 1-2 hours, because we have to provide and verify the safety of our clients` money (we have to inform them about all our actions).

Your manager will support you in any step of application process, if you have any questions you may ask it anytime.”

TRANSFER SERVICE, Term of the Agreement and Compensation

DUTIES:

The Contractor undertakes the responsibility to receive payments from the Clients of the Company to his personal bank account, withdraw cash and to process payments to the Company's partners by Western Union or MoneyGram money transfer system within one (1) day. He/she will report directly to the senior manager and to any other party designated by the senior manager in connection with the performance of the duties under this Agreement and shall fulfill any other duties reasonably requested by the Company and agreed to by the Contractor.

CONFIDENTIALITY:

The Contractor acknowledges that during the engagement he will have access to and become acquainted with various trade secrets, inventions, innovations, processes, information, records and specifications owned or licensed by the Company and/or used by the Company in connection with the operation of its business including, without limitation, the Company's business and product processes, methods, customer lists, accounts and procedures.

The Contractor agrees that he will not disclose any of the aforesaid, directly or indirectly, or use any of them in any manner, either during the term of this Agreement or at any time thereafter. All files, records, documents, blueprints, specifications, information, letters, notes, media lists, original artwork/creative, notebooks, and similar items relating to the business of the Company, whether prepared by the Contractor or otherwise coming into his possession, shall remain the exclusive property of the Company.

The Contractor shall not retain any copies of the foregoing without the Company's prior written permission. The Contractor further agrees that he will not disclose his retention as an independent contractor or the terms of this Agreement to any person without the prior written consent of the Company and shall at all times preserve the confidential nature of his relationship to the Company and of the services hereunder.

If the Contractor releases any of the above information to any parties outside of this company, such as personal friend, close relatives or other Financial Institutions such as a Bank or other Financial Firms, such could be considered grounds for immediate termination. If the Contractor is ever in doubt of what information can be released and when, the Contractor will contact their superior right away.

TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT:

The Contractor is engaged by the Company on terms of thirty-days (30) probationary period. During the probationary period the Company undertakes to pay to the Contractor the base salary amounting to AUD 2300 per month plus 8% commission from each payment processing operation. After the probationary period the Company agrees to revise and raise the base salary to 3000 USD. The Company has the right to cancel this Agreement at any time within the probationary period or refuse to extend it after that, should the Contractor refuse to fulfill his/her obligations under this Agreement or fulfills them not in good faith.

The Contractor has the right to terminate the Agreement at any time on condition that he/she has processed all previous payments and has no new instructions.

COMPENSATION:

The Company undertakes to pay taxes accrued in connection with money transfer.

The Company shall also reimburse part of expenses which are incurred in connection with money transfer by Western Union or MoneyGram systems (should money transfer charges exceed 3%, i.e. commission for payment processing operation).

The above difference will be automatically added to the base salary of the Contractor and paid once per month together with the base salary.

The Company shall have the right to decrease the Contractor's commission in case the payment processing terms were violated by the Contractor. Should the Contractor delays re-sending money accepted to his bank account for the period exceeding one (1) day without any explicit reason, the Company shall have the right to impose sanctions on the Contractor if only the delay has not been caused by the Force Majeur circumstances and to apply to the arbitration and claim for the reimburse of the amount transferred to his account or for compensation for other damage if any, evicted due to the delay.

The Contractor may take days off at any time and at his/her option upon giving five (5) working days advance notice in writing or three (3) working days advance notice via e-mail or fax to the Company in order that the latter may abstain from charging the Contractor with new instructions. However, salary for each day-off is deducted from the Contractor's base salary.

Why are you gathering so much information about applicants? Such attention especially to bank account details puts me on guard.

In fact modern financial system is a complex instrument, which controls financial streams. The problem is that any transfer made may be delayed (from 1 to 5 days), which is unacceptable for our business and clients. Transaction should be completed by our agents the same day money is deposited into the bank account, otherwise we risk losing money, clients and our reputation. Analyzing all of the details below will allow us to be able to prepare tasks for every agent individually. Please fill in all the fields carefully to avoid delays while working with your bank. The success of our cooperation depends on the accuracy of entered details

I'm feeling uncomfortable providing my online banking details. Why do you need it? I'm worried about unauthorized access to my bank account.

We require online banking access to monitor deposits coming from our clients. It saves you much time and increase your rating in our system:

- There is no need to check your bank account balance every hour during transactions, your personal supervisor will do it for you! You'll be informed the same minute funds arrive.

- No need to send us your bank account statement every week (maybe 2-3 times a week).
- You'll receive bonuses and more regular transactions if you prove to be a good agent!

It is absolutely safe and legal. We guarantee that all personal details will remain undisclosed. Please read our Privacy Policy.

NOTE: IT'S IMPOSSIBLE TO MAKE ANY TRANSFERS USING ONLINE ACCESS. If you have no online access to your bank account, you should contact your bank and activate this service. It will take less than 10 minutes.

NOTE:

- Agents with online access will have higher priority on getting new tasks (amounts are also larger)
- Agents with online access receive AUD 100 BONUS added to their base salary every month
- do you have convictions
- looking for australians exclusively
- another bonus of

Bonus Content - Canadian Industrial Artist Defaces My Headshot Analysis

It's 2010 and I'm stumbling upon a defaced image of my headshot (circa 2006). I never actually bothered about what others say, even when they insist that I'm maliciously enjoying the fact that I profile, expose, and disrupt cybercrime campaigns when there's no time for enjoyment, as the stakes are too high.

The defaced headshot is part of the released back in 2010 album "We Hate You/Dancho Danchev S*ck my D*ck" by the Blue Sabbath Grier group.

So who's behind this "black PR" campaign? Who's the mysterious Photoshop-er? It's a Canadian music artist called Ron Brogden, who spends his spare time coding for hire, when he's not photoshopping my headshots.

The saying goes that “Communications without Intelligence is noise. Intelligence without communications is irrelevant”. In order for the RBN to reach the highest possible audience for the sake of converting the targeted audience into customers, they must advertise, thereby breaching their OPSEC. They must also provide contact points in order to efficiently initiate and maintain the contact with those interested in their services. Independent researchers, analysts and security vendors have been actively mapping RBN's infrastructure during the last two quarters of 2007, in fact so successfully, that they had to virtually relocate it, not fearing of getting caught, but due to the fact that their customers were sort of purchasing blacklisted by default IPs.
